CAPTURE BROWN IN WYOMING

NEBRASKA BANDIT TAKEN AFTER BEING WOUNDED BY POSSE

Omaha Chain Man in Critical Condition With Bullet Above Heart—Trapped in Wild Country Near Medicine Bow

CAPTURED WHERE BILL CARLISLE WAS NABBED

Officers Cover Brown as He Was Attempting to Extricate Automobile From the Mud—Removed to Rawlins Hospital.

FRED BROWN.

FACES CHARGE HERE.

A charge of attempting to murder Walter Schroeder, assistant state parole officer, was filed last Monday in justice court here against Fred Brown by County Attorney Charles E. Matson, it was announced today simultaneously with the fugitive's capture. A warrant charging Brown with the attempt on Schroeder's life, is now in the hands of State Sheriff Hyers. Mr. Matson said. It is not known whether the bandit will be returned to Lincoln, in event of his recovery, or taken to Omaha where it is understood the police want him in connection with numerous alleged crimes. The complaint filed here charges Brown with attempting to murder Schroeder on the night of June 1, when the two engaged in a revolver battle in a dark alley near Twenty-second and Q streets, in Lincoln.

County Attorney Matson early Saturday afternoon received a telegram from State Sheriff Hyers stating that it was believed at the Rawlins hospital that Brown would recover. Upon receipt of this word Mr. Matson proceeded to get requisition papers at the governor's office for the return of Brown. The papers will be forwarded to Hyers at Cheyenne.

CHEYENNE, Wyo., June 17—Fred Brown, sought through three states since his alleged kidnaping of two women in Omaha, Neb., was captured last night in the wild country north of Medicine Bow, Wyo., after he had been shot above the heart by a member of a posse searching for him as he made a last dash for liberty. The capture was announced today by officials of the Union Pacific railroad.

Leaping from their automobile the officers covered Brown with their guns and ordered him to stand away from his machine in which his guns were concealed. Brown started to obey, according to the account of the capture received here, then made a dash for a big rock some distance from the road.

A bullet fired from a rifle by a member of the searching party caught Brown above the heart and he fell to the ground. He was taken back to Medicine Bow in the officers' automobile for emergency treatment and then was put on a freight train to be taken to Rawlins, Wyo.

Condition Is Grave.

Brown's condition is critical, according to the latest reports reaching here. Every bridge across the Platte river over which Brown might have escaped to the west had been heavily guarded for the past week. Officials believe that Brown, reaching Medicine Bow yesterday, learned that the Fort Steele bridge ahead of him was guarded and so turned south toward Casper in an effort to find a way through to the west.

When he stopped at Little Medicine Bow station to purchase supplies, ten passing his car noticed guns inside. Suspicions of the residents of the town were aroused and a long distance call was immediately put in to officials here. The license number on Brown's car, it developed had been stolen from a smaller car here early this week.

Special Agent McClement who had been in charge of the party at Fort Steele Bridge, was notified. He immediately joined forces with Sheriff Saunders and Deputy Cooper.

Brown's capture took place in the same rugged country in which "Bill" Carlisle, famous Wyoming outlaw, was captured two years ago.

W. J. Clement, Union Pacific special agent at Cheyenne; Sheriff W. S. Saunders of Carbon county and Deputy Sheriff Cooper who had been following Brown since he was traced to Medicine Bow by means of the license number on his car early last night, came upon the bandit as he was attempting to extricate his automobile from the mud in which it had stalled on the road north of Medicine Bow.

HYERS MAKES REPORT.

State Sheriff Tells of Brown's Capture In Long Distance Talk With Bross.

Phil Bross, state finance secretary talked over the long distance telephone with State Sheriff Hyers at Rawlins, Wyo., shortly after 10 a. m. Hyers told him that Brown was brought to bay on the road forty miles north of Medicine Bow, in the Nash car he had stolen at Cheyenne.

The executive, according to Hyers, tried to pull his guns when the officers approached him, but they shot first. He was taken to Medicine Bow and was in the railroad station there waiting to be taken on a train to Rawlins, when Hyers telephoned.

Sheriff Saunders of Rawlins, Sheriff Carroll of Cheyenne, and Special Agent McClements of the Union Pacific railroad were the men who effected the capture.

State Sheriff Hyers, Warden Fenton of the Nebraska penitentiary, State Probation Officer Harmon and his assistant, Walter Schroeder, have all been taking part in the chase of Brown in western Nebraska and Wyoming during the past week.

Chase of Nearly Three Weeks.

OMAHA, Neb., June 17.—Brown referred to as the "Benson chain man," so called because a shack in which the young women, Mrs. Jean Jenkins and Miss Catherine McNamman, born of Omaha, is located in Benson, a suburb has been sought in various parts of Nebraska and other states for more than two weeks. Various times he has been reported seen since the plight of the women was discovered, but each time he escaped, until the shooting in Wyoming today.

The women, according to their versions of the shooting, were taken to the Benson shack, Saturday, May 27, after they had accepted an automobile ride with Brown. On the following afternoon, H. E. Boyd of Omaha who saw them signalling from a window in the shack, attempted to rescue them, but he too was caught and chained. Boyd escaped that night when his captor left the shack, and notified the sheriff's office. Boyd reported that his captor had dug a grave for him. The grave was discovered by deputies.

Brown refused to talk of his flight and capture while awaiting the freight train which took him to Medicine Bow, according to reports received here.

The end of the chase for Brown began last night when he arrived at the farm of John Burnett, forty miles north of Medicine Bow. Here he was recognized as Earnest Bush who worked in the neighborhood a number of years ago. Burnett notified authorities who set out on the trail.

Abducted Ohio Woman Escapes From Captors

CINCINNATI, June 17. — Accompanied by her brother and her attorneys, Mrs. Clara Marshall returned to Cincinnati early today from Magnesia Springs, Ind., where, she said, she escaped from an automobile in which she was abducted forcibly by four men yesterday when playing golf at a country club here.

From the Indiana village, late last night, Mrs. Marshall telephoned her father, William S. Schawe, treasurer of a Cincinnati shoe manufacturing company, that she was safe, although showing the effects of her struggles with her captors, and that one of the men was her husband, Albert Marshall, from whom she had been separated for several months and had sued for divorce. No motive for the act was assigned in her telephone conversation.

Youthful Bandits Rob Motorists of Fortune in Gems

CHICAGO, Jne 7.—Three youthful highwaymen robbed Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mendelson and Mrs. G. A. Weinberger of jewelry valued at $50,000 early today. The Mendelson party was returning home from a summer garden, where it had spent the evening.

COLE HITS THE TRAIL

Paroled Convict, Who Had Served Two Terms in Prison Rents Automobile in Lincoln and Skips.

BOARD TURNED DOWN HIS APPLICATION ONCE

Superintendent Miller of Reformatory Secured a Reconsideration and Stood Sponsor for Him.

While Nebraska and Wyoming officers were closing in on Fred Brown, following a chase of more than two weeks which will cost the state of Nebraska and the cities of Lincoln and Omaha several thousand dollars, another paroled convict as making his getaway from Lincoln with a stolen automobile.

Once again, leniency shown by the state board of pardons has been abused in the case of W. T. Cole, alias Jack Ward, who was released on parole March 14, last. Cole, like Brown, had served one previous term in prison as well as one in an industrial school, before he was convicted of forgery in Sheridan county and sent to the Nebraska penitentiary for one to twenty years, in August, 1919.

On Friday, he hired a Ford sedan from the Motor Out garage at 1120 P street and drove away with it. The car has not been returned, and the company owning it has reported its loss to the police. Cole represented himself to the garage people as a salesman for the H. P. Lau company. He was employed by that firm, after his parole, as a shipping clerk.

He Read the Bible.

In the two monthly reports which were made to the board of pardons since Cole went on parole, he claimed to have been reading the bible regularly, and also newspapers and magazines. He had been spending so much money for tobacco, however,

DAMAGE PROPERTY IN CITY'S PARKS

Officials Informed Gangs of Men and Boys Commit Depradations.

No Funds to Provide for Separate Policing—Problem Considered.

The moral condition existing in the smaller parks in Lincoln is causing some concern to city officials and others who live in the neighborhood of the places in question. The city has been forced to almost abandon the F street park, the first city playground established here, because lacking any police protection there at night, every improvement made has been mutilated or destroyed.

Lights are broken out as fast as they are replaced. Buildings have been broken into and obscenely mutilated repeatedly, in spite of measures the park department has taken to protect them. Near neighbors complain that the people who frequent the parks at night in many instances are gangs of men and boys who disturb the community and add much to the darkening reputation of these park localities.

Antelope park is the only park that is regularly patrolled and policed. Conditions in Belmont park, while better than those of F street park, are far from satisfactory and Belmont citizens have asked that some person be deputized as an officer to run out the undesirables who haunt the place after dark. Destruction of property is not so prevalent there as at F street, but even Antelope park is not free from marauders who damage the public property when they can. A few nights ago benches and tables in considerable numbers were dumped into the creek bed, benches, some of them requiring four men to carry them any distance.

The park superintendent would handle these people roughly if he could catch them. He cleans F street park and is disgusted when he returns to find that almost every night it has been mussed and the property damaged. There are no city funds to provide regular policemen at every corner of these parks and the public will apparently have to suffer for the acts of a few until they are caught in the marauding acts of their activities.

FENTON DESCRIBES HUNT IN WYOMING

Warden Returning at Noon Saturday, Says Brown Was Trapped Friday.

Hyers Had Formed 200 Mile Cordon Around Benson Bandit.

Warden Fenton returned at 1 p. m. Saturday from Cheyenne, Wyo., where he left State Sheriff Gus Hyers Friday afternoon, and brought with him the first detailed accounts of the greatest manhunt ever staged on the Nebraska and Wyoming border.

"When I left," Warden Fenton said, "we had things so arranged that Brown could not have escaped."

Warden Fenton and Sheriff Hyers picked up Brown's trail at Sidney, Neb., when they hurried out west, following the discovery of the stolen Deshayes car at North Platte.

"We rushed west at once," the warden said, "and fixed posses ahead on all roads and passes. But Brown was a clever man and he slipped through the cordon somewhere in the hills, and got to Cheyenne, where he stole a Nash car."

Sheriff Hyers with the aid of sheriffs George Carroll of Cheyenne, and A. A. Sanders of Medicine Bow, then formed a circle, 200 miles in diameter, around the bandit.

"Posses watched every road, highway, path, and mountain pass day and night, for 100 miles in each direction," the warden declared, "and we know that the bandit was hiding somewhere in that cordon. Other posses then began a systematic search of the area within."

"When I left Cheyenne yesterday, Warden Fenton said, "Gus Hyers was leaving for Rawlins, Wyo., confident that some time during the night, Brown would emerge from his hiding place, and be spotted somewhere."

Officers Covered Ground.

"We certainly covered some ground in fixing all the posses," Warden Fenton declared. "Two cars containing Sheriff Hyers, myself and other officers, left on a dash around the circle, within which we had Brown ensnared, and we did not get back until Friday morning, and covered 400 miles on that one trip alone."

"We had every highway guarded, and every mountain pass. At the mountain passes, the mountain rangers helped us, and kept a close guard. The Colorado rangers also assisted us in guarding the Colorado border," the Fenton stated.

Commenting on the shooting of Brown Saturday morning, Warden Fenton said that every man engaged in the manhunt, was especially instructed to take no chances with the bandit, but to shoot at him on sight.

The scene of the manhunt, according to the warden, was about 10 miles north of the spot where the notorious bandit Bill Carlisle was captured two years ago.

The warden also stated that a former Lincoln newspaper man, F. L. Babcock, was with the Hyers party for two days.

Child Hurt by Automobile Is Awarded $1,200

Judgment for $1,200 has been entered in district court here against Miles B. Willis, 19 years old, and his father Bert A. Willis, in a suit brought against them, for the same amount by Albert M. McGlinchy, 5 years old, and his father, Albert P. McGlinchy. It was alleged the McGlinchy child was severely injured while crossing the intersection at Seventeenth and P streets, January 16 by being struck by the elder Mr. Willis' automobile which was driven by his son. Judgment for $600 was claimed for the child's injuries and $600 for medical expenses. The case was filed and immediately tried, late Friday afternoon.

Lincoln People in Auto Wreck; Escape Injury

While driving from Lincoln to a point in Kansas, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Palm, owners of the Lindell hotel, were badly shaken up when their automobile turned over near Nebraska City, Neb. The car was damaged somewhat, but the occupants were not injured.

ASSESSED VALUES SHOW A DECREASE

Lancaster County Total Will Be Lower Than Year Ago by $1,000,000.

Drop in Value of Agricultural Produce Responsible for Decrease.

This year's assessment of real and personal property in Lancaster county will fall approximately $1,000,000 below the 1921 valuations, figures given out Saturday by County Assessor J. A. Sheffield show.

This reduction in valuations prevails in spite of an increase of approximately $1,000,000 in real estate valuations. In fact real estate assessments from Lincoln, the villages and rural districts all show substantial increases in valuation over last year's assessment, but Mr. Sheffield stated that this was due largely to improvements as the assessment of lots and acreage was about the same this year as last.

Hence the falling off in the total figures is due to decreases in personal property valuations. This was particularly true in the rural districts, where the personal property valuations fell fom $8,599,440 in 1921, to $6,683,955 this year. This decrease of nearly $2,000,000 was due in part to reduction in the prices of farm products, Assessor Sheffield said.

Only one item of figures have not yet been compiled by the assessor of this year's assessment. That is the Lincoln personal property assessment. However, Mr. Sheffield said he does not look for very much of a change either way in this connection. Lincoln's personal property valuation in 1921 amounted to $26,924,150.

What Figures Show.

Lincoln's real estate in 1921 was assessed at $61,001,550, and this year at $62,051,675. Real estate in the villages in 1921 was valued at $9,023,525, and in 1922 at $9,167,065. In the rural districts the 1921 assessment of real estate amounted to $50,663,300, and $50,522,675 in 1922. The total real estate assessment of the entire county in 1921 was $120,688,375, and in 1922 $121,714,210, or an increase this year of almost $1,000,000.

The personal property assessment in the villages last year totalled $4,195,185. The 1922 valuations show an increase with $4,224,550 as the total valuation. In the rural districts the personal property assessment in 1921 amounted to $8,599,440, and in 1922, $6,683,955, a decrease this year of approximately $2,000,000. Figuring that the 1922 assessment of Lincoln's personal property will be about the same as last year's, $26,924,150, the total valuation of personal property in the entire county this year will amount approximately to $27,832,655, or about $2,000,000 less than last year's total of $29,715,775.

What effect this $1,000,000 decrease in the total valuations will have on taxes is purely speculative. But if the valuation is lower and expenditures are not decreased accordingly, taxes are likely to be higher for the levy is made upon the valuations.

COUNCIL REPLIES TO PETITION OF COLORED PEOPLE

Commissioners Not Attempting to Deny Constitutional Rights.

Decision on Request for Use of the Municipal Swimming Pool.

The city council has written a letter to the local chairman of the Lincoln branch of the national association for the advancement of the colored people, relative to the petition its representatives have made to be allowed the use of the municipal swimming pool. The letter calls attention to the freedom from race prejudice that Lincoln has always enjoyed and urges that this society take no steps which will in any way change the fine relationships that have always existed here between the two races.

The original petition was presented to the city commission May 16 and last Tuesday a delegation from the association named was heard by the city council. The letter was mailed in answer to their request then that the city define its attitude and decide what it would do. The letter points out that no regulations have so far been necessary and reminds the chairman of the committee which called Tuesday, that any responsibility for forcing an issue must rest with the colored people themselves.

The letter follows:

Lincoln branch national association for the advancement of colored people, Lincoln, Nebraska. Ladies and Gentlemen:

Replying to the communication of your association under date of May 16, 1922, and with reference to which hearings have been had before the city council, permit us to say that the city council has no disposition to attempt any violation of either the letter or spirit of constitutional and statutory provisions providing for equality of rights of all citizens.

Regulation Not Necessary.

It has been a matter for mutual commendation that this community has avoided in the past all issues tending to bring about racial prejudice or controversy. That this result has been possible in this community is due primarily to the good judgment exercised by the colored citizens of the community. It has so far been unnecessary to undertake any measures of regulation of this problem. When last year it appeared that an issue might be joined with reference to the municipal swimming pool, everyone was much gratified when the issue was avoided. So far no regulation has ever been promulgated by the city council attempting any discrimination. It would be a matter of sincere regret if the community were to be forced into a position of seeking a solution by regulatory measures.

Up to the present time there has been only one instance in which an application for admission was withheld temporarily and this application was upon further consideration withdrawn.

We recognize the possibility of your organization forcing an issue which may result in turmoil. Nothing that we can say or do can hinder you if you should elect to pursue a course with that objective.

We believe it is also proper to say that we believe our colored citizens generally would deeply regret being drawn into any such controversy. The use of the swimming pool is of so insignificant consequence compared with the larger question of harmonious relationship, that we trust no incident will be forced.

No one denies your legal rights. You must use your own judgment as to whether your interest and the interest of your people is served by insisting upon asserting these rights and thereby possibly invite difficulties. If you do, we want it fully understood that the situation is one of your own making and one which we are seeking sincerely to avoid. Yours truly, THE CITY COUNCIL.

Ready for Burial, Woman Sits Up in Coffin; Wants Drink

NEW YORK, June 17.—An hour after she had been prepared for burial today, Mrs. Rebecca Senpz sat up in her coffin.

Physicians summoned the woman's children and relatives this afternoon and at 5 o'clock after she had suffered a paralytic stroke she was dead.

Ice was packed about her body and candles lighted.

Neighbors, who came in to console the woman's children were gathered about the coffin when the body stirred. Mrs. Senpz sat up and asked for a drink.

Physicians said that she would recover.

LABOR INTERPRETS COURT'S DECISION IN CORONADO CASE

Says High Tribunal Cannot Crush Unions Without Endangering Society.

Workers Will Not Accept That Which Makes Slavery Possible.

(Associated Press.)

CINCINNATI, O., June 17.—Labor's interpretation of the supreme court decision in the celebrated Coronado coal case, holding international unions subject to damage suits under the Sherman anti-trust law, was presented today to the American Federation of Labor convention here by the federation's executive council composed of its eleven officers.

"The supreme court cannot crush us; they will not accept that which make[s] [illegible] the foundations of society," declared the report. "The workers will not accept slavery. Therefore the will not accept that which makes slavery either likely or possible. They will find a way to preserve those liberties which they have and to gain more as time passes.

No means for overcoming the decision was suggested by the council on account of the creation by the convention of a special policy committee for this purpose, but the council declared it was "extremely alive" to the attitude of the courts as outlined to the convention by Senator LaFollette of Wisconsin, who urged a confressional veto of supreme court decisions.

Applies to Others Also.

Organizations of farmers and other unincorporated associations of individuals were said by the council to face the same plight as the trade unions, for it was said that the decision applies to them with equal force as it does to labor unions. Every organized unit, the council asserted, was made liable as such for whatever may be done by individual members or groups.

Chief Justice Taft, who wrote the Coronado decision was said by the council to have been "purely gratuitous" by including a ruling "in anticipation of future cases," and the court's concurrence in the opinion was described as an "unwarranted act." The decision, the council added, was predicated on "ancient and outlawed British court findings and resulted in reversal of established law and practices in the United States.

"The supreme court," the report concluded, "has not only rendered a decision which goes beyond any previous decision of that tribunal in its antagonism and opposition to labor, but it has rendered such a decision when under the law and the practices hitherto obtaining its decision should have been exactly the reserve."

No action was taken on the report except to refer it to the special committee.

Arraign Indicted Labor Leaders for Trail on Monday

CHICAGO, June 17.—Seven of the eight persons indicted for conspiracy to murder in connection with the death of Police Lieutenant Terrance Lyons during the recent reign of terror in Chicago, will be arraigned for trial Monday. The eighth person, a woman, named in the indictment as Mrs. Miller, will be given a separate trial at a later date. Judge Taylor today refused a separate trial for "Big Tim" Murphy, Fred Mader, "Con" Shea and other labor leaders named in the indictment.

Russ Refuse to Ratify Treaty

MOSCOW June 16.—It was confirmed today that the Russian soviet government has refused to ratify the treaty with Italy signed by Leonid Krassin and George Tchitcherin at Genoa on the ground that the treaty is not in accord with the terms formulated at the last conference of the all-Russian executive committee.

BRYAN A CANDIDATE

Lincoln Man Seeks Democratic Nomination for Governor Saturday Morning, Making Four in the Race.

STANDS ON PLEDGE OF STATE ECONOMY

Decision to Enter Campaign Comes as Desire to Eliminate Extravagance in Public Affairs.

Charles W. Bryan of Lincoln Saturday filed as a candidate for the democratic nomination for governor. Mr. Bryan's entry makes four candidates, including Bryan, J. N. Norton of Polk, Will Maupin of Gering and Dan Butler of Omaha. Willis Reed of Madison is also reported to be a prospective candidate but his filing has not reached the secretary of state's office.

Mr. Bryan gave out the following statement to the press at the time he completed his filing in the secretary of state's office:

"I have filed as a candidate for governor, t has not been my personal al desire to stand as a candidate this year. If it had been, I would have filed some months ago.

"I have been engaged in farming and a breeder of livestock all my life. I personally know the effect on the farming business of high interest rates on mortgages, low prices on grain and livestock and abnormal and unnecessarily high taxes. In addition to farming, I have been devoting all the time that I could as an advocate to progressive legislation to protect the farmers, middle classes and wage-earners from being compelled to contribute more than a just share of their earnings to others.

"The personal petition presented to me, joined in by fifty prominent democratic men and women of my home city, representing all elements of former factions of the party, and what that appeal represented, deeply impressed me. The feeling that my candidacy might prevent the democratic party from being drawn into the contest being waged by the already divided forces of the new third party—which would undoubtedly cause the present republican regime of riotous extravagance and burdensome taxes being again fastened upon the state for two more years—has much to do with my decision to stand as a candidate.

"The argument made to me by the home folks representing a united democracy that my candidacy would remove the question of wet and dry or law enforcement from the campaign and enable the democratic party to go forward as a unit to victory and put the state government on a business basis by bringing the expense of government within the people's ability to pay, appealed to me so strongly that I feel that I should take part in this contest as a candidate.

"In a later statement I will outline some specific remedies for lowering taxes and substituting economy and efficiency for extravagance and waste in state government."

HOLD OF SHIP IS DEATH TRAP

Fifty Men Reported When Big Liner Capsizes at Hapsburg, Germany.

HAMBURG, Germany, June 17.—At least fifty persons were drowned when the Brazilian-Lloyd liner Avare capsized when being towed to her dock by tugs. It was estimated by officials of the line today.

The accident occurred on Friday afternoon.

A large part of the crew were trapped beneath the decks and could not make any effort to escape.

Loss Will Be Heavy.

LONDON, June 17.—The loss of life in the capsizing of the Brazilian-Lloyd liner Avare in the Hamburg harbor is still unknown, but it is believed to be heavy, said a Hamburg dispatch received here this afternoon. The liner had been in an dock and was being towed to her pier by tugs when she went down.

A later report from Hamburg said that the dead and injured might reach 100.

Irish Anti-Treaty Candidate Loses

CHOWINS, VETERAN UNIVERSITY SUPT. DEAD AT HIS HOME

Member of Mechanical Engineering Staff Dies After Operation.

Connected With Institution 26 Years—Planned Main Buildings.

Charles E. Chowins, 66, superintendent of grounds, buildings and construction of the University of Nebraska for the past several years, and member of the mechanical engineering staff, of the College of Engineering, died at 5 p. m., Friday at his home, 1802 Washington street, following an operation. Mr. Chowins' death was very sudden.

Mr. Chowins began working on the university campus, 26 years ago. He was the foreman for the contractor, who in the early days removed the crumbling sandstone foundation of "Uni. hall" and replaced it with lime stone foundation. He experienced a dramatic hour in this work when the old tower began to settle and appeared about to fall during the process of the replacement of the foundation stone.

He first became associated with the university under Professor Richards, later dean and now president of Lehigh, who appointed him as a member of his staff in mechanical engineering. From this position he rose gradually to superintendent of grounds, buildings and construction, a position which he held until last fall when he was made superintendent of construction and relieved of general executive duties.

Had Many Attainments.

Mr. Chowins was a versatile man in his technical attainments. He was an electrician of no mean ability. He understood well the operating of a large power plant. He was personally a most excellent mechanic. Aside from this, his architectural ability is shown in many structures in connection with the university. The plant industry building at the agricultural college is entirely his architectural work as well as the heating plant and the horse barn. The dairy barn at North Platte is perhaps the most pleasing of any structures that he created.

During the entire recent building campaign at the university, Mr. Chowins acted as superintendent of construction. He assisted largely in preparing specification and saw that the work was faithfully carried out.

Chncellor Avery said of him:

He died almost in harness. As recently as ten days ago he was working on tentative sketches for the new stadium, getting these ready for submission to the architects as a preliminary study of the requirements. These plans had been submitted informally to the members of the board of regents and to alumni officials and all expressed their delight and surprise at the grasp of details shown and the excellence of the work performed.

In all of this work Mr. Chowins showed himself to be not only a man of vigorous mentality but also of the highest personal honor. Notwithstanding the magnitude of the undertakings entrusted to his supervision, he served the university at a modest salary, lived frugally, and reared his family well.

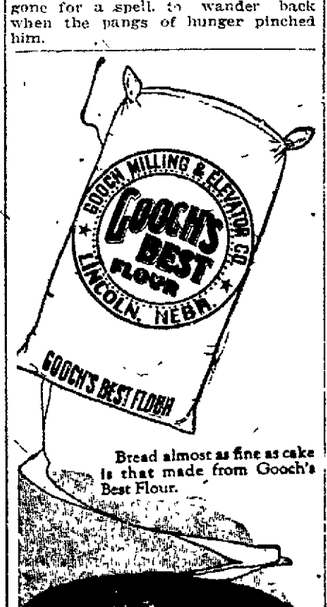
Mr. Chowins is survived by his wife, two sons, Harold F. Chowins, of Kansas City, Mo.; Charles M. of Crete, Neb., and a daughter, Miss Hilda Chowins of Lincoln.

Funeral services will be held Sunday afternoon. The time and place will be announced later. The body is being held at Castle, Roper and Matthews' chapel, pending funeral arrangements.

Free Confessed Slayers When the Victim Shows Up

GREENSBORO, Ala., June 17.—Two self-confessed murderers have just been released from the Greensboro prison after their supposed victim turned up.

Rather unique, in Sheriff Martin's annals and he is just a little bit puzzled. A boy disappeared from his home near Akron ad a vigorous search failed to disclose his whereabouts. But two young negroes, aged fifteen and ten, told how they had knocked him in the head, first stunning him then cutting him to pieces with their knives. They were held only a few days before their alleged victim returned, having only obeyed the call of wanderlust and gone for a spell, to wander back when the pangs of hunger pinched him.



Bread almost as fine as cake is that made from Gooch's Best Flour.

Motor Cyclists Stage Annual Gypsy Tour

Nebraska motor-cycle dealers have planned to have the annual "Gypsy tour" today at Ashland, Neb., for all motor-cycle enthusiasts from Lincoln and Omaha. The trip is for all motor-cycle riders, no matter what make they ride or how ancient the vehicle, but any automobile parties are asked to kindly but firmly put on their brakes about twenty miles from Ashland because the jaunt is for only two or three wheeled "wagons."

The local detachment is billed to leave Lincoln about 6 o'clock this evening and arrive at Ashland in the close proximity of 8 p. m. Camp will be pitched on the Platte, just across from the old toll house at the west end of the pay-as-you-enter bridge, by advance agents from the motorists of the metropolis.

They claim that a good camping place has been picked and some clever entertainment secured for the crowd. There will be races and stunt riding on Sunday.

All those expecting to ride are requested to sign up before hand so that the proper amount of food can be ordered. A "weenie" roast in the evening bacon and eggs for breakfast, and a chicken dinner at a hotel, composes the bill-of-fare. Each person must take his own bedding roll and knives, forks, spoons, etc. All those who have tents are asked to take them along.

Retail Cost of Foods Increases Small Fractions

WASHINGTON, June 17.—An increase of two-tenths of 1 per cent in the retail cost of food to the average family from April 15 to May 15, was announced today by the bureau of labor statistics in an analysis of the cost of forty-three food articles, in fifty-one important cities.

The largest increases were noted in the sale prices of cabbage, 8 per cent; eggs, strictly fresh, 6 per cent; certain grades of meats, 4 per cent, potatoes, 3 per cent, and bread, rice, coffee and other groceries 1 per cent. Fifteen articles decreased in prices ranging from opions with a 29 per cent decrease to cheese 4 per cent, milk, 2 per cent, and butter 1 per cent.

In Omaha there was an increase of less than five-tenths of 1 per cent in the average family expenditures for food.

British Destroyer Arrives at Derry

BELFAST, June 17—The British destroyer Vancouver has arrived in the river Foyle at Derry. It anchored beside the destroyer Warwick which last week searched a steamer in Lough Foyle and the next day hailed two other vessels bound from Londonderry and warned them not to stop anywhere unless so ordered by warships.

Subsequently it was reported that the provisional government in Dublin was contesting Great Britain's right to search ships in these waters.

W. T. THOMPSON CANDIDATE FOR STATE ATTORNEY

Lincoln Man Held That Office for One Term and Part of Another.

Successfully Defended Two-Cent Fare Law and Other Measures.

W. T. Thompson of Lincoln is a candidate in the republican state primaries for the office of attorney general. His filing fee was paid Saturday morning to the treasurer of Lancaster county, and nomination papers were afterward filed with the secretary of state.

Mr. Thompson served as attorney general of Nebraska during one full term and part of another term, from 1907 to 1910, resigning in the latter year to become solicitor for the national treasury department. He held that position under the Taft and Wilson administrations until 1914, when he returned to Lincoln to practice law.

During his administration as attorney general, Mr. Thompson successfully defended the state 2-cent fare law, the Aldrich freight rate law, the Sibley express rate law and other important measures from attacks made upon them in the state and federal courts by the carriers affected. He conducted this litigation in person, having only two legal assistants to aid him in carrying on all the work of the office.

Led Prohibition Campaign.

In the fight for state prohibition in 1916 he was chairman of the Nebraska dry federation and managed its campaign to a successful conclusion. He was chairman of a state organization in 1919 which prevented the nonpartisan league from getting control of the constitutional convention.

In a brief statement given to the press, Mr. Thompson said concerning his candidacy:

"I have filed the necessary papers with the secretary of state to entitle me to have my name placed on the official primary ballot as one of the republican candidates for that office.

"The principles for which I stand are, Economy in administering the affairs of the office and fidelity to the public service.

"As evidence of my sincerity concerning these principles, I point to, and invite an examination of my record during the years 1907 to 1910, inclusive, during which time I was attorney general.

"The experience had during those years, together with the practical experience acquired during a subsequent period of nearly four years as solicitor of the U. S. treasury department at Washington, qualifies me, in larger sense, for the performance of the duties which are now involved in the position for which filing has been made."

Bar Political Questions From Hague Conclave

THE HAGUE, June 17.—The third day of the international conference on the reconstruction of Russia opened today with two important issues clearly defined.

1—The powers have placed themselves on record as resolved to bar all political questions and confine the deliberations to purely technical and expert lines of economic.

2—Not the delegates but the respective governments will have the definite power of decision.

Both these points represent surface victories for France.

Informal conferences were held today, but there will be no formal session until Monday.

WOMEN VOTERS IN FAVOR OF PRIMARY

Objects of League Explained at York by Miss Pyle.

(Special to The Star.)

YORK, Neb., June 17.—Miss Gladys Pyle of the national office of the league of women voters at Peru, Indiana, addressed a large audience at the courthouse Thursday evening. Miss Pyle said in part:

"This organization is based upon two definite principles, intelligent citizenship and improved legislation. It is working for political education of women because it believes that national and international problems will never be intelligently solved until there are intelligent opinions regarding them in the minds and conscience of the American people. It is working for improved legislation because it feels that the knowledge of the womanhood of the country along lines of human life and welfare should be used in solving the legislative problems pertaining to the humanities.

"As an organization the league of woman voters is affiliated with no political party although it urges every member of the organization to ally herself with the party of her choice and make herself a real influence with her party and not a 'rubber stamp or me too' partisan. The membership of the organization number amongst it some of the leaders of political parties. The bulletin of the Nebraska league says, 'We study in the league, we vote in the party.'

"The league of women voters has been altogether satisfied with every election held under the primary law, but feel that a return to the old convention system would aggravate the political troubles and not alleviate them. We are working for government by and for the people and not for government by a few political bosses which was the usual method under the convention system. We intend to use our influence to save the primary law for the voters of Nebraska. That is our chief task for the next six months."

Elect Gumb Head of Fremont's Chamber

(Special to The Star.)

FREMONT, Neb., June 17.—John Gumb was elected president of the Fremont chamber of commerce by the directors, when they convened Thursday evening. George F. Wolz was elected secretary and commissioner. L. F. Holloway was made vice-president and A. G. Christensen treasurer.

HAIL VISITS CUSTER.

BROKEN BOW, Neb., June 17.—Various parts of Custer county were visited by a heavy rain during the past week. Fifteen miles west of Merna, it developed into a most severe hail storm that part of the county has experienced for years. The stones were very large and did a great deal of damage, riddling the roofs of buildings and killing and injuring many hogs.

MAUPIN IN FIGHT FOR GOVERNORSHIP

Gering Newspaper Man to Make Campaign Through Mails.

GERING, Neb., June 17.—Will M. Maupin has become a bona fide candidate for the democratic nomination for governor having paid his filing fee to the county treasurer and forwarded his request to the secretary of state, asking that his name be placed on the primary ballots.

His filing is announced this week in his newspaper, the Midwest, in which he also publishes a brief summary of his platform, which has previously appeared at different times. Mr. Maupin announces that owing to financial limitations his campaign will be carried on principally through correspondence and that his dependence is upon those who endorse his platform and are confident that he will use his utmost endeavors, if elected, to carry out his pledges.

Mr. Maupin left Friday for Omaha and other points in the eastern part of the state, but expects to return the first of the week and will devote practically all of his time to the conduct of his newspaper.

Railway Officers' Are Entertained in Custer County

BROKEN BOW, Neb., June 7.—A largely attended and vastly interesting meeting was held by the railroad officials and shippers from this county, and is the first one of its kind ever held in this city. During the forenoon the members of the Public Service club took the railroad officials for an auto ride, going west as far as Merna.

As a result of the afternoon meeting more of the crossings will be supplied with crushed rock and a new auto unloading platform will be installed near the Martin Bros. light plant. The shipping problem was threshed out and the matter of rate discrimination was brought up and the facts brought out that the adjustment of these matters had been in the hands of the Inter-state commerce commission for some time and an early settlement was hoped for. The evening meeting was given over to the O. S. & D. department and was largely attended by the agents up and down the lineand local railroad men.

RELIGIOUS YOUNG PEOPLE ASSEMBLE

Hold Ten Days' Educational Meeting on Doane Campus.

(Special to The Star.)

CRETE, Neb., June 17.—The Congregational young people's assembly which has been holding a ten days' session on the Doane college campus and using the buildings for classes, closed Friday. There were in attendance 150 young people and the interest was splendid in all the classes.

Among the notes lecturers, speakers and teachers were Dr. Herbert Gates of Boston, a national secretary of missionary education; Rev. Harold Cooper of Columbus, Ohio, a returned missionary from India; Miss Daisy Coleman of Chicago, acting secretary of the W. B. M. I.; Rev. Robert Garrison of Chicago, field secretary of the educational society; Dr. John Andrus of Norfolk, Dr. W. A. Taylor of University Place and Rev. C. G. Murphy of Lincoln.

The Students' classes and lectures took all the forenoon of each day, the afternoons being given to recreation and having a good time. This is the second year the young people's assembly has met here and it is considered a great success along the lines of religious education.

Two Hurt as Plane With Omaha Police Surgeon Forced Down

OMAHA, June 7.—A forced landing, due to engine trouble shortly after they had started from Tekamah to Omaha Friday afternoon, brought the airplane piloted by Andy Nielsen of Council Bluffs, with Edmund H. McCarthy, Omaha attorney and Dr. F. H. Kinyoun, police surgeon, down in a field three miles out of Tekamah fighting fire on the plane.

None was seriously injured, and the injuries received resulted after the plane landed and was taxi-ing through the field and collided with a hay rake. Nielsen received bruises on his head; McCarthy, minor body bruises, and Dr. Kinyoun was uninjured.

Dr. Kinyoung dressed the wounds of the other two men and the three came to Omaha by train last night.

Hooperites Desire Lower Valuation

FREMONT Neb., June 17.—Claiming that the increase in valuation of 36 per cent for taxation purposes is just, residents of Hooper sent a large delegation to the court house yesterday for the purpose of protesting against the schedule approved by the assessor's office. Asks Daugherty to Rule on Sea Sales of Liquor

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Formal demand that the department of justice rule upon the status of the government vessels as carriers of liquor so that the issue may be clarified under the latest decision of the United States supreme court was made upon Attorney General Daugherty today by Prohibition Commissioner Haynes.

The Attorney general was asked to settle the dispute between the treasury department and the shipping board, arising out of Chairman Lasker's opinion that the sale of liquor on American ships is legal and to state if the department of justice ruling of the Palmer administration is to be supported by the shipping board opinion.

Striking Miners Surrender Guns

SALT LAKE CITY, June 17.—More than 100 guns were surrendered late last night by striking miners at Scofield, scene of the first outbreak following a walkout several weeks ago. Today, miners at Spring Canyon will be relieved of their firearms. Quiet prevails in all the coal mining camps in Carbon county.

Eighteen men held here for complicity in the armed attack on the train in Spring Canyon Wednesday, when a deputy sheriff was killed and a mine official wounded, are being arraigned this morning at Price on charges preferred under the direction of the county attorney.

HARVEST HANDS IN GUN BATTLE

One Killed and Three Probably Fatally Wounded in Oklahoma Town.

(Associated Press.)

CHEROKEE, Okla., June 17.—One man was killed and three others probably fatally injured here last night in a fight between about sixty harvest hands assembled in the city park, just outside the city limits. The fight, which assumed the proportions of a riot, is thought by officers to have been incited by the I. W. W.'s The man killed was known as Paul Bernareck of Ardmore. He was about forty years old. In his pocket was found an honorable discharge from the Thirty-second infantry at Fort Lawton, Wash. He also carried an I. W. W. membership card, officers said.

Twelve alleged members of the I. W. W. who are charged with participation in the shooting affray were arrested.

HEATING COMPANY TO DISCONTINUE

Many Geneva Consumers Must Make Different Arrangements.

(Special to The Star.)

GENEVA, Neb., June 17.—The Public Service company this week notified consumers that no heat for buildings would be supplied the coming winter. District Manager J. R. Smith of York, made calls on business men of Geneva with the announcement. Yesterday about thirty business men and the mayor and council held a meeting to consider the action of the company. The city authorities will take the move of the company under advisement and another meeting will be held. Seventeen buildings will be affected by the shutting off of the steam supply. These are a number of business blocks besides the city hall and auditorium, post office, Citizens State bank, Geneva State bank, county court house, telephone building and Nebraska Signal office. At Exeter the C. C. Smith Adjustable Index factory is heated from the Exeter plant of the company. The new transmission line being constructed by the Continental Gas & Electric company will supply current for lights of the towns within its territory, but the local plants will be ready to start up when an emergency requires. The generating stations in this district are located at Aurora, Osceola, York, Geneva and Exeter. Sub-stations are Benedict, Giltner, Bradshaw, McCool, Waco, Stromsburg, Polk, Hordville Hampton, Shelby and Marquette.

Woman Loses Foot by the Accidental Discharge of Gun

(Special to The Star.)

COLUMBUS, Neb., June 17.—Mrs. Herman Bruhn, residing eleven miles from Columbus, had her left foot torn to shreds by the accidental discharge of a shotgun which she was in the act of handing to her husband about midnight last night. Reports indicated that amputation of the foot would be necessary. At midnight Mr. and Mrs. Bruhn were awakened by a commotion in their chicken yard. Mr. Bruhn started for the yard, intending to take the gun with him, but first handing it to his wife. While she was handing it back to him it was accidentally discharged.

Hundreds of Elks to Visit Columbus During Convention

(Special to The Star.)

COLUMBUS, Neb., June 17.—There will be 190 accredited delegates to the Elk's convention in Columbus June 21 and 22, each of the nineteen lodges in the state being entitled to ten officials representatives. In addition thereto several hundred unofficial visitors are expected from all over the state.

(Special to The Star.)

COLUMBUS, Neb., June 17.—Struck by a lighted gasoline can which her husband not knowing she was standing near, had throw away, Mrs. Charles Pepper of Belgrade, was seriously burned about the arms, abdomen and legs last evening. She was brought to Columbus hospital for treatment.

Water Scarcity at Stratton at End

(Special to The Star.)

STRATTON, Neb., June 17.—The water supply at Stratton has been inadequate to meet the demand every summer for the past four years, each season the scarcity coming on a little bit earlier. About a year ago the village board, seeing the necessity for securing a more adequate supply, put down a Kelly well which was completed last October. Owing to financial stringency the pumping unit was not installed at that time. Due to inability of the manufacturer to deliver the pumping unit as early as the contract called for the board was obliged to limit water patrons to a two hours daily schedule during the past month. A fair amount of rainfall during April and May has been a great help to the town and with the hot and dry months approaching, water patrons will greatly appreciate having all the water they want for the first time in five summers.

The unit installed is a two-stage centrifugal pump with 225 gallons per minute capacity against a two hundred foot head. This is in addition to a triple pump of like capacity already in use.

Scour Country for Person Who Attacked Woman

LOGAN, Ia., June 17.—A countrywide search is being made for the person who, under threat of killing her and her baby, gained entrance to the farm home of George L. Hinkle and attacked Mrs. Hinkle. Mrs. Hinkle had been left alone but a short time. Her husband, returning, found his wife bound and tied to the bed.

When a Girl Marries

KING FEATURE SYNDICATE INC.

CHAPTER 671

"Let me tell Mr. Lacy. That's my share. I don't mind, and I can manage to make him understand that you are not in the least to blame and that this is one of the cases where the only way to judge is by intentions."

"Oh, would you?" cried Miss May. "It's awfully hard on you. But if you'll just run down and explain to Ralph, it will make it all so much easier for me. I know it isn't fair to you. I know it's going to be horrid"—

"Horrid to see Ralph Lacy?" I bantered.

And then, to my annoyance and astonishment, I felt my cheeks growing crimson.

After Miss May's failure to reach Wayne Parkinson, Third, and my equal lack of locating Max Hoadley, it was a great relief to get hold of Ralph Lacy at once. He said he'd be delighted to see me, offered to run up to my office if I desired and was no whit less amiable when I insisted that I'd better come to the Star as the matter I wished to discuss was the sort I'd rather not talk over in my own little shop. He accepted that. He didn't try to penetrate my mystery or to secure the key to it, but accepted my dictum that he must wait till he saw me to know what it was all about.

Even if my errand had been as embarrassing and difficult as Miss May considered it, I'd have felt perfectly at ease about going to Ralph Lacy about it. His take-it-for-granted manner of easy amiability was more than ever like Neal's. He seemed like a substantial, grownup edition of my brother. And the fact that he had straight, sandy hair and bronzed skin, instead of a thatch of red curls and an engaging lot of freckles, seemed part of his greater grownupness and consequent steadiness.

The greeting I got from Jerry, Mr. Lacy's office boy, made me feel welcome and at home. And the greeting that came to me from Mr. Lacy himself was merely Jerry's friendliness magnified.

"Good morning—here's the old gentleman all ready to give first aid," he bantered.

"You seem more like a boy grown up, like an older edition of my young brother," I replied with the complete honesty Ralph Lacy inspires.

"That's a great compliment—provided, there's enough grown-upness to inspire faith," said Mr. Lacy heartily.

"Oh, there is—or I wouldn't be turning to you—to bring about an adjustment of a delicate matter," I replied.

"I hope you've come to me in a bit of a difficulty. Not that I'd like to see you in one. But I'd love to get you out of one!"

Mr. Lacy's smile as he said that had an almost Irish twinkle. And Irish twinkles have a way of being adorable.

"You're going to get your wish," I agreed smilingly. "You'll have to bait your line well, for there are other folk beside me who'll be needing help over stiles."

"Come on with your lame doggies."

"They number three. Four maybe—they are, Miss May, Mr Parkinson, Max Hoadley and I. That's the group I'm expecting you to treat with first-aid methods."

"Let's see if I can dope this out on the evidence, will you?"

Mr. Lacy's eyes narrowed for a moment. Then they concentrated into a sort of blaze of keenness. It was almost possible to see his brain function. And I had a sense of power and of logical mental processes concerning the best use of that power for others' needs. Mr. Lacy sat absolutely without gesture for a moment or two. He seemed free from nerves and the need of nervous expression most folks have when they are thinking.

Then, just as I had decided that he was a superman, he did the most human thing imaginable. He took up a pencil and began drawing scriggles on a pad which lay on his desk.

"I think I've got the main elements of the plot," he smiled at last. "You're worried about the stunt Aunt May let Park in for. You don't see a Parkinson in millinery. It's a fine trade. It may get such a lot from Park at first. But eventually it's likely to give him a lot—the experience he needs, for instance."

"That's the worst of it," I sighed. "Who's doping this out?" he demanded with an elaborate frown.

"Excuse it, please. I'll let you go this your own way, Mr. Sherlock Holmes," I burlesqued, feeling entirely at home.

"All right, Watson, see that such an interruption of my great mind doesn't occur again," replied Mr. Lacy in the tone. Then he swung quickly to seriousness. "Miss Harrison, let me put your mind at rest. Astonishing as the whole proposition was to Park, he didn't take a mite of offence at it. It hit him between the eyes, coming from your adorable little 'aunt.' He saw the pathos of it—and the sweetness. And he didn't give a hang for the Parkinson toil-not neither do they spin traditions, when he got the idea back of Aunt May's plan.

"He realized that she was trying to save him from the boredom of his 'nothing to do till tomorrow's existence. And if she'd handed him a plan for taking on a coal-heaver's job, he'd have been game."

"Oh—wait—please," I interrupted. "I feel the truth of what you've saying. That's what makes it all the worse. You see, the poor dear has been defeated. She couldn't put it through. And the idea of failing after she got her Park all keyed up is just torturing her. She thinks he counted on her and that she failed him. She's heartbroken over the thought of having to disappoint him."

"She thinks she's going to disappoint him?" asked Ralph Lacy with a seriousness that impressed me as being almost more than even the occasion warranted.

"She doesn't understand that it will be a relief. We can't tell her that—it would belittle her whole scheme. It's bad enough to fail. But to know that you were making a tower out of one stone would be too humiliating for her to endure."

"Of course," said Ralph Lacy, with a glance of understanding. "We couldn't dream of hurting her like that. Not even if there were any need. We'd have to invent a way to save her feelings if they were in danger."

"If they were in any danger!" I cried. "But they are. I must tell you this. I do it so you'll completely understand. Why, the love you two boys have given Miss May is the breath of life to her. And she is all crumpled up at the thought that she can't do anything for you. Her failure drives her half mad."

"But she hasn't failed."

"Mr. Lacy," I cried, a bit impatiently. "Don't you see"—

He smiled at me so patiently and graciously that I wondered how I could have entertained a moment's doubt of his vision. Then he said quietly:

"She hasn't failed. She has succeeded better than she knew. Will you permit me a little mystery? Will you take my word that before the day is over your Miss May is going to find that she's done something pretty big? You know the old legal saw that whosoever sets a train of dangerous circumstances in motion is responsible for the results thereof. We're going to prove that the opposite—or thereabouts—holds true. Whoever sets a train of dandy circumstances going gets the credit."

"You sound mysterious!" I cried.

"I mean to be. Will you trust me? Will you believe that Miss May builded better than she knew? Will you make her believe it?"

"Yes," I said earnestly. "If you want me to believe it, I do."

"That's what I call being a good friend!" cried Italph Lacy. "We have come to be good friends, haven't we?"

And again, slowly, and with something of amazement, I replied: "Yes."

To Be Continued

Young People of the Presbyterian Church in Meeting

The annual convention of Young Peoples' Union of the United Presbyterian church of the Pawnee Presbytery, was held at the United Presbyterian church in Lincoln Thursday and Friday. In the absence of the president, Esther Woodburn acted as chairman.

Thursday night a missionary pageant given by the young people in Lincoln was followed by an address by Rev. Paul Calhoun of Omaha, on "Kingdom Assets in Egpt." Rev. Calhoun recently made a tour of Egypt and the holy land.

Friday morning the memory verse contest was won by Miss Kear of Pawnee City. The Bible reading contest was won by Esther Woodburn of Lincoln. The Friday afternoon conference was followed by an address by Dr. W. M. Jackson of Omaha on "Gold That Is Good." Fred MacMillan of Des Moines who has recently made a tour of the mission fields, gave the evening address. Nearly forty delegates attended the conference.

Vacation Church School Attended by 400 Children

At the close of the first week the five community vacation church schools showed a total enrollment of 401 children, distributed as follows: South Lincoln 129, East Lincoln 56, North Lincoln 65, Central 59, East Central 83. By denominations the distribution is as follows: Methodists 95, Presbyterians 45, Christians 31, United ZBrethren 20, Congregationalists 29, Lutheran 16, Baptists 15, Evangelical 13, Beulah Mission 12, Gospel Tabernacle 11, Adventists 3, Episcopalian 2, United Presbyterian 2, Catholic 1, Christian Science 1, Unclassified 45, No church 27, Baptists (colored) 17, all nations (colored) 2.

In the primary departments there are 103 girls and 109 boys. In the junior departments 120 girls and sixty-one boys. The total number of teachers and supervisors is thirty-seven.

The fact that the schools started the Monday following the close of the public schools may account for a rather smaller enrollment than was expected.

The group meeting at the Emmanuel church has been offered to the directors of the Emerson Nutrition Institute, and more than half the children will be excused from the school at any time they are needed.

The schools will continue for three weeks more and children are invited to register at any time.

Randall Contests With Harry Cook

Charles A. Randall of Newman Grove, former state senator and fire warden, has filed for the republican nomination for railway commissioner.

Charles Q. DeFrance of Lincoln, has become a candidate for the democratic nomination for state auditor. He was state accountant and deputy treasurer.

W. A. Dunbar of Gresham has entered the lists as a contender for the nomination for state superintendent.

A. R. Humphrey of Broken Bow, has completed his filing as candidate for the republican nomination for congress from the Sixth district.

State Gets Cash From Lancaster

County Treasurer Albers of Lancaster has turned over $180,000 of tax collections in May, under his June remittances to the state treasury. He paid in $90,000 of this sum several weeks ago, and another $90,000 was remitted on Friday. The two amounts aggregate the largest sum everp aid to the state as one slon play in Bavaria and expects to months' proceeds of tax treasurer.

FACT OUTRUNS IMAGINATION.

Modern science is bewildering the world with so many new inventions and discoveries that the average person finds it hard to keep track of them. In the last quarter of a century a great many comforts, conveniences and even luxuries have been brought within the reach of nearly everyone which in the time of the preceding generation were not enjoyed even by the very rich.

About thirty-five years ago, two celebrated literary geniuses of their day each wrote a book intended to portray the progress of civilization and the conditions of life as he thought it would be fifty or a hundred years in the future. In some respects the things which their fancy conjured up have already come to pass, but their imagination was not keen enough even to hint at the development which human ingenuity has brought about to serve the needs of mankind.

Edward Bellamy, in his "Looking Backward," put a Boston man into a hypnotic sleep in a special chamber down below the basement of his home, then burned the house down and left the place in ruins until the year 2,000, when his hero was found by workmen clearing up the debris. He was brought out of his trance, introduced to a new society based on socialistic ideas, and found the world greatly advanced and the condition of the race much bettered.

Bellamy's new world, as thus painted, was distinguished by universal equal rights of men and women, shorter hours of labor, an equitable distribution of wealth, and government supervision and control of all production and distribution. Machinery had been brought to a state of perfection where little was left for bare human hands to do. Even the farms were run by machinery, as in fact many of them are today. Stock yards and packing houses were unknown, because mankind had ceased eating meat.

One of the striking things which Bellamy's imagination conjured up, at least a dozen years before moving pictures were ever heard of and thirty years in advance of the radio-telephone, was the simultaneous rendition of "long distance opera" to audiences all over the United States from a central stage in New York or Washington. His idea was that sight and sound would be transmitted together over wires, and that a person could pick up a telephone receiver and an optical instrument enabling him to see and hear what was going on a thousand miles away. In view of what is now being done with radio apparatus, and moving pictures, the Bellamy conception was a remarkably prophetic one.

Ignatius Donnelly, about the same time, wrote "Caesar's Column," in which he pictured the world going to the dogs, after achieving an extraordinary stage of material development, by reason of the fact that organized wealth had become all powerful and reduced the masses to slavery. His story dealt with the overthrow of civilization and the return of savagery when the lid was finally blown off.

The Donnelly narrative was full of airships, automatic devices for supplying almost every human want, the use of poison gas in warfare, and other details which inventions since then have largely supplied. But neither he nor Bellamy knew anything about the gasoline engine, which came a few years after their tales were written. In one chapter of his book, timed in the middle of the present century, Donnelly gave a thrilling account of a mad race—in horse-drawn vehicles—through the streets of a great city, between the escaping hero and heroine and their pursuers. The automobile was one thing he had never dreamed of in all his flights of fancy.

Modern refrigeration, which supplies our tables nowadays with fresh fruits and vegetables from all over the world, both in and out of season, and enables us to feast on ocean fish caught two or three days previously, was unknown in the time of "Looking Backward" and "Caesar's Column." X-ray photographs and surgery were unheard of, and rural mail delivery was something that never occurred to the authors of those works.

The human race, at least in America, is living on a plane higher than their brains could conceive a third of a century ago. Perhaps the people of 1950 will be just as far in advance of this generation.

A TRUE PICTURE.

There is evidence from practically every section of Nebraska, supporting Governor McKelvie's statement that conditions in this state have greatly improved.

"Whereas, Nebraska was the darkest spot on the map a year ago, it is now the brightest," the governor sums up the agricultural and business conditions.

Only a few weeks ago men well-versed in agriculture entertained very serious doubts concerning the wheat crop. Two or three very timely rains, especially in the great wheat belt in the central Nebraska counties changed all of this. In York, Hamilton, Hall, Buffalo and adjoining counties, wheat promises to be an exceptionally heavy crop. The grain stands high, is well-headed and is filling under ideal conditions. Corn has made rapid progress during the last few weeks, and there is an exceptionally fine stand. Alfalfa yielded a fair crop and oats promise a fair yield.

It is an accurate picture which the governor has painted.

LINCOLN'S FIRE PROTECTION.

There are twenty-five fire alarm boxes in Lincoln. They were installed in 1886. The system is practically home-made. It works most of the time. An ordinary telephone is also maintained at the central fire station. It has been out of commissions for as long as an hour and a half at a time. There are places in the city, some in the downtown business districts, where the available supply of water is confined to four-inch mains, which will fill one and sometimes two lines of hose, making the rest of the costly fire fighting apparatus worthless at that particular place.

An alarm from the south side means a run for the heavy fire trucks through the heart of the city. It takes from ten to twelve minutes to reach some residential sections supposed to have adequate fire protection. A real blaze could make dangerous headway in that time. A smoking electric iron will cause the same run by the department, with its accompanying expense and loss of effective time.

These are a few of the pertinent facts concerning fire protection in Lincoln developed at a meeting of the fire prevention committee of the Chamber of Commerce, Thursday. The fire chief and the chief of police were present at the meeting, together with business men who pay taxes on considerable property, and who agreed that there is present necessity of a drastic change and improvement in the system.

Fire Chief John Steele summed up the attitude of the group when he inquired: "Are we going to wait until something really disastrous happens, or are we going to start fixing things now?"

It is a pertinent question.

DISMAL SWAMP CANAL

The fate of the Dismal Swamp Canal, one of Virginia's oldest institutions, may be decided soon. The Dismal Swamp Canal company has offered to sell the canal to the government for $500,000, and unless the government accepts the offer it is likely the canal company will have to abandon this waterway.

A hearing before the rivers and harbors committee of the house of representatives will be held in Washington shortly to consider this proposal finally, and representatives of the Norfolk chamber of commerce and other bodies will attend.

This canal will have to go out of business because the government has opened the Albemarle-Chesapeake canal, a competing project, and is operating it free of toll charges. Both of these waterways serve practically the same territory, although the Dismal Swamp canal's territory is somewhat broader and larger than its competitor, but its additional facilities are not great enough to make it profitable for shippers to use it under its charges rather than use the free government canal.

It is proposed that the government convert the canal into a free waterway, on the system followed in the conduct of the Albermarle-Chesapeake waterway. The Norfolk chamber of commerce has taken this side of the question, along with a great many important business concerns which have been built upon the route of the canal and which will suffer seriously if it is abandoned.

A study of the Dismal Swamp Canal situation has proved itself an absorbing one—so much so that the national rivers and harbors congress, headed by former Congressman John H. Small of North Carolina, a veteran crusader for better waterways, has given a great deal of attention to it and has urged that congress appropriate the necessary funds to buy the canal from the operating company and turn it open to traffic.

The value of the canal is said to be considerably more than $1,000,000, but the canal company is willing to have the government take it over for half of this amount in order to conserve the facilities which have been indispensable to that section of Virginia and North Carolina for more than a century.

The Dismal Swamp canal began operating in 1820, and has been in continuous operation since. Along its banks have been established great lumber camps, a number of profitable farms and other industries of this character. Recently near Wallaceton 10,000 acres of the swamp land has been drained, and it hs been found that this land is as fertile as any land in Norfolk county. It will grow strawberries two weeks ahead of the season here, and other crops in like manner.

Among the suggestions which have been made for the conservation of this canal is one that the government might take it over and make it the basis for drainage of the Dismal Swamp. The soil which lies beneath the swampy substance of that area is said by geologists to be as fertile as any in the United States, or more so. It cannot be used for agricultural purposes at present, except at great cost of reclamation.

Numerous hearings on the Dismal Swamp canal project have been held before the army engineers and before the congressional committee, but it is expected som decision in the matter will be reached in a short time. Many interests in this section of Virginia and in the North Carolina territory served by tsis canal are eager to see the government take it over and conserve its resources.—New York Commercial.

IT CAN'T BE WHOLLY UNDONE

Emma Goldman says the Russian revolution was a complete failure, but the Czar doesn't seem to have returned.

A Bit of Homely Philosophy

DO YOU LIKE TO BE MEAN?

Are you not surprised when you realize how mean and disagreeable you would be if you allowed yourself to act as you feel?

And is it not true that if you have such a spell at home, where you feel you are free to act yourself, that you lose all control and do not try to exert control.

Often you wish you were boss in the place where you work so that you might "tear things loose," as you express it, and vent your feelings.

In other words, you want to be as mean as possible.

The more you think along this line the harder it is for you to gain the mastery, and the more arrogant and irritable you become at home, or wherever you are not responsible to someone who has the right to dismiss or evict you.

Stop being an old grouch in your home, where you should conduct yourself differently.

Change your course before your will becomes too weak.

Can you not see which way you are headed?

Are you not robbing your home of the happiness that should be there?

More Truth than Poetry

BY S. E. KISER

A POOR EXAMPLE.

Peggy sits alone and gazes
Dreamily out into space;
Life has left its thrilling phases
Etched upon her wrinkled face;
Poor old Peggy, looking sadly
Back along the misty years,
Thinks she has bee ntreated badly.
And is shedding futile tears.

Peggy's name was in the papers
Frequently, some years ago;
That was when she cut wild capers,
And could balance on one toe;
Peggy's beauty has departed,
Once it brought men to her feet;
Women once with envy smarted
When she rode along the street.

Lonely Peggy's heart is yearning
For a little word of praise;
Hopelessly her thoughts are turning
To the old exciting days
When she drove to desperation
Men whose love she cast aside,
Men whose only occupation
Was to gratify her pride.

Peggy, in her heyday, never
Cared to listen to advice;
Thinking youth would last forever,
Peggy paid the usual price;
Famous jewels that once glittered
On her graceful neck are gone;
Peggy sits alone, embittered,
All her joyousness in pawn.

Girls whom rich men follow, drooling,
Pass the "Home" where Peggy sighs,
But, with all her painful schooling,
She could never make them wise!
They will dazzle, never thinking
That their gems may cease to blaze;
They, too, some day, will be sinking
Into dust, for lack of praise.

Rambling through Nebraska.

BY C. DURANT JONES.

C. G. Carlton, editor of the Oakland Independent, says that Oakland ranks first in the world as a stock feeding center. That is a pretty big contract but he seems to have the facts, for the figures from South Omaha seems to bear out the claim. While it is located in a corn raising community, yet there is little corn shipped out, and fully as much shipped in as is shipped out, so that the stock fed there will require all the corn that can be raised in that territory. A movement among the feeders is now under way looking to the shipping in of larger numbers of cattle at one time.

It is believer that by shipping in whole trainloads of stock, it will mean even greater advantages to the territory. The plan contemplates shipping in the train load and placing the cattle on sale to feeders, and the building of immense yards for the efficient handling of the stock will be included. Under the present shipping arrangement, cattle coming from the west may be unloaded at Oakland, and fed there until they are ready for market, reloaded and shipped on to Omaha, or any other point, without additional freight charges. The rate is figured to the river, but permission is given for unloading and feeding in transit, and the feeder can take his own good time for re-loading.

In fact, it is not necessary for him to re-load the same animals he shipped in, but he may ship on to market, the same number of animals, when he gets ready, whether they are the same ones or not.

Postmaster Fred Borne, of Union, who by the way is also the editor of the Unison, says that he believes transient merchants should not be allowed to travel through the small towns and compete with local merchants, unless they first be required to pay some kind of a license fee for the privilege. He says that if big manufacturers are protected by tariff laws, some method of protection to the small town merchant should be devised. The local merchant pays taxes for the upkeep of the town, helps build roads, maintain schools and everything else included in the tax list, and on top of that donates constantly to various community enterprises. The itinerant does none of these things, but uses the roads the local merchant pays for, and the streets the local merchant helped to make, and skims the cream of the local trade, with but little out-lay, so there is much merit in Mr. Borne's contention.

There is a charming young lady living in Talmadge whose name is a palindrome. To save the trouble of looking up that unusual word we need but to say that a palindrome is a word or sentence that spells the same, whether spelled forwards or backwards. The young lady is quiet and modest and has no desire for publicity of any kind, but her friends are furnishing what publicity there is. Her name is Miss Emma Damme and you may spell it backwards or forwards, it is not material. In fact we are not right sure which way we spelled it in this item.

There is a live bunch of men at Arlington, who are backing the Washington county fair each year. The fair there is a new institution, just a year or so old, but it has made a splendid record already. It was one of the few fairs in the country last year that paid out and then some. The attendance was large and it was due to the vigorous efforts and the unique methods used by the officers to induce a large attendance. They are holding frequent meetings now making big preparations for the fair to be held this fall. A new hog barn is being planned, and it is possible that a building in which to display fancy work and other art exhibits, may also be erected.

A swimming pool is also being agitated and there will be plenty doing in that town before snow flies.

The Fremont Tribune says that judging from the progress being made by the Mid-road party in state politics, it might better be named the Detour party. It does seem to be on the way, but not right sure as to where it is going.

Just a little technicality has caused the village of Dodge a big loss in taxes in the past few years. Three years ago an addition was taken into the corporate limits of the town, many lots were sold, and a number of fine residences were erected. Sidewalks were builded, and the village put in the cross walks. The electric light and water systems were extended to the new addition and the residents in that section of town had all the modern conveniences the village afforded. But it has just been discovered that through somebody's error, the county clerk had no notice of the addition, so that no town taxes were assessed to the addition residents. Thus for some time they have been having all the conveniences of the village, but were paying nothing for the privilege. There is probably no way in which back taxes could be collected, but the town officials are getting the matter straightened out so that in the future the proper taxes may be collected.

Four Men and One Woman Killed in Belfast Fights

BELFAST, June 17—Four men and one woman were killed in fighting which raged at Newry throughout the night. Incendiaries were active at Newry and several houses were destroyed by fire

The victims were dragged from beds and shot to death in their homes.

Two of the dead are Mr. and Mrs. Crozier, an aged couple. In addition to the dead a number of persons were wounded.

It is reported that several of the wounded will die.

It is believed that the attack was made in reprisal for a number of killings recently near Newry.

Market Quotations

LIVE STOCK MARKETS.

OMAHA, Neb., June 17.

CATTLE—Receipts, 100. It was the usual steady Saturday market on cattle today, not enough being on sale to make a basis for comparison. On fairly heavy receipts this week, about 21,500 head, the market has been very uneven, best here holding fully steady to in spots 10 to 15c higher, while plain and medium kind and yearlings, are unevenly weak to 25 to 40c lower. Cows and heifers have held about steady. Stockers and feeders show a slightly lower trend in sympathy with the decline on fat cattle.

Friday's quotations on cattle: Beef steers, $6.75@9.30; beef steers and heifers, $6.60@9.25; beef cows, $3.25@7.00; fat heifers, $5.60@7.75; veal calves, $6.00@9.00; bulls, $3.40@7.25; feeder steers, $7.20@7.25.

HOGS—Receipts, 8,300. The Saturday market ruled active in a good demand from both shippers and packers, light hogs and good butchers moving steadily at 5 to 10c higher prices. Packing grades and heavy mixed loads were slow, mostly at steady to strong prices, with the close weak on this class. Light hogs sold at $10.40@10.45, with top at $10.50, mixed loads and butcher weights at $9.80@10.40, and packing grades at $9.50@10.00; bulk of all sales was $9.90@10.40. Heavy hogs are closing the week about 10c lower, while light hogs and good butchers are fully 10c higher.

Saturday's Representative Sales.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

NEW YORK, June 17.

Confusing advances and declines attended today's brief session of the stock exchange. Prices were generally higher at the outset, Mexicans showing pronounced strength on the adjustment of the external debt. Profit taking resulted in general reactions during the first hour. Oils, motors and several of the coalers and equipments were under pressure. Later the list rallied under lead of Mexican Petroleum, which increased its early advance of 4 points. There was urgent buying also of independent steels at gains of 1 to 3 points. The closing was firm. Sales approximated 550,000 shares.

Signing of the agreement for the payment of the Mexican debt exercised a strong bullish influence over the stock market at the outset of today's session. Mexican Petroleum, which soared sensationally in yesterday's later dealings, opened with a further gain of 1¾ points, but this was increased to 4 points within the first ten minutes. Pan-American Petroleum rose 2 points and Pacific Oil 1¾. National Railways of Mexico second preferred made a fractional gain and Mexican government 4's and 5 per cent bonds were higher by 1 to 1¼ points. Elsewhere the trend was unmistakably upward, especially among rails, motors and steels.

WEEKLY TRADE REVIEW.

NEW YORK, June 15.—Dun's today says:

Existing business conditions contrast sharply with those of a year ago. Instead of the repressed demands of the earlier period, current buying in various lines reflects breadth and activity, and price advances, rather than declines now predominate.

Less is heard at present than was the case last year of the quieting influence of the near approach of the summer because there is more work to be accomplished, and it is significant that the question as to whether business has improved has changed to discussion of the extent and scope of the revival. While the recovery has actually been in progress for many months, it has come so slowly and irregularly in different quarters as not to be widely noticed and some unsatisfactory phases had raised doubts as to the character of the forward movement. Weekly bank clearings, $6,900,366,000.

GRAIN MARKETS.

CHICAGO, Ill., June 17.

WHEAT—Wheat prices were unsettled at the start today, initial quotations ranging from ⅛c lower to a like advance with July $1.10⅞@1.11 and September $1.11⅜@1.12. During the early dealings values firmed up on scattered buying, but the trade was light and prices held within narrow limits.

The market lacked enthusiasm. Values, however, showed greater firmness toward the finish on disappointing threshing returns from parts of the southwest, with some mention of black rust damage in Oklahoma. The close was firm with prices ranging from ¼ to 1c higher, July $1.11⅝@1.11¾ and September $1.12¼@1.12⅜.

CORN—Buying by local bulls strengthened the corn market shortly after the opening, but the bulge brought out commission house selling and a reaction followed. Initial quotations were ⅛c higher to ¼c lower, July 62c.

The corn market later developed an easy undertone and closed ⅛c higher to 1c lower, with July 61⅝@61¾c.

OATS—Oats started unchanged to ⅛c higher with July 34¼c, and then advanced fractionally.

PROVISIONS—Provisions were dull.

Seeks Divorce.—Deemar Gray has brought suit n district court here for divorce from William Gray. They were married in Birmingham, Ala., in 1910. Mrs. Gray alleges her husband has struck, beat, cursed and abused her. She states they have ten cows, about 300 chickens, ducks, household goods and one Ford truck which Mr. Gray is about to dispose of and Mrs. Gray asked for an order restraninig him from doing so.

Order is Dissolved. The injunction suit filed in district court here in November, 1920, against Gus Stamos by John J. McLaughlin and John Ledwith, in which a order was issued restraining Stamos from tearing down a frame house, which stood upon the premises at 1510 O street, has been dismissed and the restraining order dissolved. The court found that Stamos had sold his interest in the property and had not commenced tearing the house down.

Hail in Lancaster County.—The state hail insurance division has received one claim for crop damage suffered by Adrian H. Vermaas in a twenty-acre field of wheat last Thursday night. Some claims have also come in from Dawes county, dated last Wednesday.

SENATORS FACING FRESH TROUBLES OVER BONUS BILL

Badger Solon Serves Notice Will Offer Motion Tariff Be Side Tracked.

Says Will Not Abide by Action of Republican Leaders.

(International News Service.)

WASHINGTON, June 17.—Fresh troubles over the soldiers' bonus confronted administration leaders today when Senator LaFollette, republican of Wisconsin, served notice that he would offer a motion in the senate to displace the tariff for the bonus now that Chairman McCumber of the senate finance committee had agreed not to do so.

LaFollette declared he would not be bound by the compromise effected between administration leaders, and McCumber, by which the bonus would be taken up immediately after the passage of the tariff bill and made the "unfinished business" of the senate.

LaFollette was said to have received assurances of support from not only a number of his republican colleagues, but from a large proportion of the democratic side, where Senator Walsh of Massachusetts was threatening to make a similar motion.

"We have waited and delayed; we have argued back and forth about the source from which to derive the money to pay the additional compensation due our ex-service men," said LaFollette. "The hour has struck to stop quibbling and delaying about giving them a square deal.

Means More Sidestepping.

"To postpone the bonus until after the passage of the tariff bill simply means further sidestepping and delay. I will not support such a plan. It is a palpable attemt to trick our ex-service men again into the belief that they are really to be cared for. No one can foretell when the tariff will be disposed of by the senate and no one can foretell what will happen to the bonus if we wait until the tariff is passed before taking it up.

"I deprecate the term 'bonus.' I do not like the term 'adjusted compensation.' I believe we should pass 'a bill to provide a measure of just compensation.'

"My state voted a bonus to her soldiers and had the wisdom to compel those who profited from the war pay that bonus by taking it out of the sur-taxes in big incomes. There is no reason why the federal government should not follow the admirable example of Wisconsin."

Gushing Spirits Cause Near Riot Among the Thirsty

PHILADELPHIA, June 17.—An alarm was broadcast to prohibition agents here today in a vain attempt to save 50,000 gallons of apple wine, which flowed from an overturned tank car and was ladled and lapped up by hundreds of thirsty factory hands.

The car, labelled and consigned as "alcohol" was enroute from Virginia to Pier one, New York City, for William Garrett and company, Bush Terminal, Brooklyn. But it derailed at Gray's Ferry, rolled over on its side and automatically uncorked itself.

The tantalizing odor of released spirits was wafted into nearby factories. Men and women took one sniff and rushed toward the gushing refreshments.

When prohibition agents arrived they sought to halt the praty, shouting that the car contained "wood alcohol, deadly poison, but the guests noses knew and the party went merrily on until nothing was left of the 50,000 gallons of wine but a vanishing stain on the ties and a diminishing odor.

Investigation showed that a permit for shipment of the liquid, issued in legal form, had been signed by prohibition authorities.

Dentist's Office Visited by Thief

The dental office of Dr. K. H. Cobb, 1234 O street, was broken into sometime between 6 and 9:30 p. m. Friday, according to the police, and a black leather bag containing clothing, was stolen. Several drawers in a desk in the office were also forced open, but according to Captain Walter Anderson nothing else has been missed.

The thieves broke open the door, according to Captain Anderson and after ransacking the desk made away with the bag.

Break Record Salt Lake to Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO, June 17. — A record for the airplane time between Salt Lake City and San Francisco was made by the United States air mail service today when three fliers working in relays negotiated the distance in 6 hours 12 minutes. The announcement was made by the air mail service.

MANY FILINGS BY CANDIDATES

for state senator, Twenty-fifth district.

E. R. Purcell, Broken Bow, democrat, and Lee Gordon, Merna, republican, for state senator, Twenty-third district.

A number of other legislative filings were also made for various districts in the state.

For Code and Against Primary.

C. Q. DeFrance distinguished himself by appending a two-page typewritten statement with his filing, in which he declared in favor of the code law and against the state wide primary. He thinks the code system as now in vogue has some faults, but favors the general idea.

C. A. Randall was a primary candidate for governor in 1916 and came within a very few votes of defeating Henry T. Clarke for renomination. He has sponsored several complaints to the railway commission in regard to train service in his part of the state.

Petitions for C. H. Gustafson to run for United States senator were all ready to be filed but had not been delivered to the secretary of state up to noon Gustafson is in Lincoln and said he was undecided about the matter. After the petitions are filed he will have five days' time in which to make up his mind about accepting. Friends of R. B. Howell are anxious to keep him out of the race, fearing he will take a good many votes from the latter on account of his prominence in co-operative activities of the farmers.

Amsberry Upsets Old Rule.

Secretary Amsberry announces he will not accept any filing which is mailed in and reaches him after midnight Saturday, unless his office has at least a partial filing or notice thereof before that time. This reverses the former practice, which was to accept filings by mail when the post mark showed they were started on their way on the last day allowed by law.

If a candidate intending to file pays his fee in his home county and calls Amsberry on the phone or sends him a telegram to that effect, the filing will be accepted when it arrives. If a voters' petition is in the secretary of state's hands by Saturday night, or if a candidate's application is received without the receipt for the fee, Amsberry will permit the filing to be completed within five days.

The secretary of state's office remained open Saturday afternoon, contrary to state house usage, so that belated filings might be made. Secretary Amsberry said he could be reached at his home in Lincoln up to midnight.

COLE HITS THE TRAIL

that Probation Officer Harmon wrote him a letter telling him he would have to do better if he expected to get a discharge after the minimum parole period of six months.

In July, 1921, when Cole was doing time in the penitentiary, under his nom de plume of Ward, the pardon board turned down his application for a parole on the ground that "he has demonstrated quite thoroughly that he should be under some form of guardianship."

Later, however, he was transferred to the men's reformatory, where he became one of Superintendent Gus Miller's "boys." Miller became his advocate in asking a second time to have him paroled. His application was heard and the parole allowed in March.

When Governor McKelvie, chairman of the board, inquired who would be responsible for him, Superintendent Miller said:

"If he remains in town I would like to assume responsibility for him. He is 100 per cent better than he was last summer. He has different ideas, his radicalism is all gone, and he is submissive and humble."

Served for Offense in Army.

Cole's record shows that he was committed to the United States disciplinary barracks at Fort Leavenworth, Kan., while serving in the army, and finished his term there. Prior to that time, he had been an inmate of the industrial school for boys at Nashville, Tenn. His home is at Memphis, Tenn.

The offense for which he was sentenced to the penitentiary here consisted in forging a check at Gordon, while he was playing semi-professional baseball with teams at Chadron, Neb., and Lusk, Wyo. Judge Westover, before whom he pleaded guilty, recommended clemency for him to the board of pardons.

In making its order, the board found that he had a good record both at the penitentiary and also at the reformatory, during his two and a half years at those institutions. He is 24 years old.

Governor McKelvie objected to his going out and playing baseball again, but Superintendent Miller of the reformatory assured the board that this would be only a "sideline" with Cole in future.

C. A. Dake, chairman of the athletic committee for the American Legion, is the man to whom Cole, or Ward, was paroled. L. E. Whitney assisted in getting him out.

The missing automobile which Cole obtained from the Motor Out garage was a 1921 Ford sedan bearing the license number of 2-7091 and its motor number is 5,342,205.

BROWN TAKEN AFTER A BATTLE

lins, and Deputy Sheriff Cooper of Medicine Bow trailed the wild man to an irrigation ditch, where his car became stuck in the mud, ordered him to get away from the auto and small arsenal it contained. He made a flying leap for a nearby boulder. As he did so they opened fire. One bullet took effect directly above his heart. They loaded him into their machine and began a break-neck return journey. At Medicine Bow they loaded him into a freight train and rushed him toward Rawlins, where he was due to be placed in a hospital, and attempt made to save his life. He was in a critical condition.

Gus Hyers, Nebraska state sheriff, who left Cheyenne yesterday for Ogden, Utah, was stopped last night at Green River, Wyoming, and came back as far as Medicine Bow this morning. Word received here says he positively identified Brown. W. T. Fenton, warden of the Nebraska state penitentiary, left Cheyenne Friday for Omaha. There is no doubt here but what the authorities have gotten the right man.

Trace of the chain bandit was secured through license plate he stole from a Ford car in Cheyenne Wednesday night, after holding up a street car to secure ready cash and driving a new Nash car out of a local garage. He removed plate from the Nash and attached the one from the Ford.

Last night he stopped at a station known as Little Medicine Bow, to secure additional supplies. The storekeeper jotted down the license number and phoned it to Cheyenne. Officers here checked it up, found it to correspond with the stolen one and notified officers at Rawlins, Casper and Douglas. Closing in on the ex-convict followed.

Nebraskans Led Hunt.

Sheriff Hyers and Warden Fenton have been in western Nebraska and eastern Wyoming since the first of the week, making their headquarters for the most part at Cheyenne, from which point they have directed the operations of hundreds of officers and citizens who have been engaged in the hunt for the desperado. Brown is said to have held up and robbed of their arms officers at Dix, Neb. and near Sidney.

From Sidney he was traced to Cheyenne, where he is said to have abandoned the car stolen at North Platte and t ohave stolen another one. He was believed to have been headed for Denver, but that lead appears to have been a false one.

Medicine Bow is west of Cheyenne on the Union Pacific and was made famous by Owen Wister in his novel, "The Virginian," the scene of which was laid in that vicinity.

LABOR MOVES TO FORCE SHOWDOWN ON WAGE SLASHES

(Associated Press.)

CINCINNATI, June 17.—Chiefs of the miners and rail unions agreed here today to hold a meeting next Tuesday night to discuss joint strike action.

Moves to Showdown.
(International News Service.)

CINCINNATI, Ohio., June 17.—Organized labor's first definite move to throw its legions into the big industrial conflict or a "show down" fight is underway here today.

A gigantic coalition of coal miners and railroad workers to meet the believed inevitable railroad strike, is expected to result from conferences initiated by railroad workers' heads.

A combination of these two powerful unions, one already on strike and the other facing a strike, awaits only the sanction of John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America.

In the proposal labor leaders attending the American Federation of Labor convention also see efforts to compel the 'Big Four" railroad brotherhoods to take a definite stand as to support or possible joining the railroad shop crafts if they strike.

To date the "Big Four" have appeared reluctant to indicate approval of the proposed strike.

Theminersare mh mmmm

The miners are in a receptive mood to join their workers morally, financially and in whatever other way co-ordinated effort would benefit, on high official in the miners' union declared today.

Belief that the "Big Four" will eventually cast its lot with the miners and railroad craftsmen, if the coalition is effected, is based on the fact that in Chicago in February 1st they were a part yto an agreement entered into by the miners and railroad shop crafts, pledging a iombination.

The following article in that agreement is responsible for the invitation for the conference given the miners by B. M. Jewell, president of the railway employes' department of the American federation of labor.

Mayor Finds Park Entrance Is Dark, New Light Put In

A new arc light has been placed at the Auld entrance to Antelope park, near the dancing pavillion, by the city light department, which will not be turned out until shortly past midnight. The installation was hurried y an accident that caused Mayor Zehrung and Mrs. Zehrung and a party of friends to have to wait for a street car in the pitch dark there Thursday night.

The mayor and his party were going to the Antelope park dance and their car broke down near the A street station. They left the car and stayed at the pavillion until the close of the dance at which time they walked with a number of other pedestrians. When the pavillion lights were turned out the entrance lights went out also and the mayor and forty others spent a bad half hour dodging rushing motor cars in the dark and waiting for a late street car. He called Mr. Schroeder's attention to the unpleasant experience Friday and Saturday the new arc light on another circuit, was installed.

Two new lights have also been placed in the ourist park by Mr. Schroeder in response to a request from the Automobile club.

BEET WORKERS BETTER CARED FOR

Clean Living Quarters and Good Schools Provided at Beet Fields.

Mrs. Emily Hornberger Finds Conditions Improved But Not Yet Perfect.

Better housing for the families of German-Russian sugar beet workers in Scotts Bluff and Morrill counties and the opening of six school houses in the former county to be used for summer instruction of the children in these families are the result of a special campaign statred in Lincoln last fall by Mrs. Hornberger, state child welfare director.

During the past week, Mrs. Hornberger has been inspecting the beet field districts in the two counties named and observing conditions there traveling through territory by auto. She found a considerable improvement over a year ago, with regard to comfortable living quarters, provision for school facilities and the absence of small children from the beet field.

A large number of the workers have their homes in Lincoln. They left here several weeks ago and during the summer are domiciled in small cottages which owners of beet lands have erected for them. Formerly of sheds and lice-infested chicken houses some of them which had no floors and were not proof against rain were used for this purpose. Now, Mrs. Hornberger reports, there are neat little houses with screened doors and windows, good roofs, and in many cases paint on the outside and plaster within.

School Superintenrent Co-operates.

Superintendent E. L. Rouse of the Scottsbluffs city schools is devoting himself with a great deal of vigor to the campaign for getting the children into school for a six weeks' term starting about the middle of July, which will occupy a period between actual cultivation of the beets and the harvesting of them. After that, the children will be out of school until they return to Lincoln in October or early November. It is hoped to keep them abreast with their regular grade by means of the summer term, so that they can re-enter school here in the fall without having fallen behind.

One schoolhouse in Scottsbluff and five consolidated rural school buildings elsewhere in the county are to be utilized for the summer sessions, under the supervision of Superintendent Rouse. He has been going around, himself, and taking the census of school children and parents in the beet raising region. A double card index record is being made, one for the parents and one for the children. More than 350 children have been catalogued to date in Scotts Bluff county.

After taking a two weeks' vacation from this arduous labor, which is being performed in addition to his regular school duties at Scottsbluff, Mr. Rouse will return and oversee the school work in the midsummer sessions.

Morrill County Not So Good.

In Morrill county, a part of the North Platte irrigated beet sugar country, the conditions are not so good as in Scotts Bluff county, where the main effort is being made to improve them. Director Hornberger found the same neat type of cottages there, but more young children were at work in the fields, and the local authorities are not giving so much attention to the school situation in Morrill as in Scotts Bluff county.

"I drove for a day through Scotts Bluff county, and didn't see more than a dozen boys and girls under 12 years old crawling along the beet rows," said Mrs. Hornberger. "There were a few aged from 6 to 9, but not to compare with last year, when our reports showed the average age of all children working to be under 10 years.

"The sugar beet people seemed anxious to co-operate with us in securing better conditions

"Over in Morrill county, I started out one morning at 4:30 and found whole families in the beet fields at 5 o'clock. At 6 oclock, practically everybody was out working. In the evening, I made another inspection tour and found them working as late as 8 o'clock

"The acreage assigned to each family, however, is said to be smaller than it was last year, and this will enable them to get through without working the smaller children so hard. The work is all right for children who are older, provided they are not kept at it too long."

Country Club Grounds Placed at Residence Section

The Country club grounds, recently taken into the city by ordinance and soon to be abandoned as a country club, has been changed from green to yellow or white on the tentative zoning map of the city, meaning that it will be listed as a residence district rather than a park district.

The Gooch mill property and the strip of land north of it lying between two Burlington tracks, will probably all be made industrial because of its location along the railroad right of way. The Country club grounds is almost surrounded now by class B residence district which differs from the class A residence district chiefly in the matter of front, rear and side set backs. When the grounds are platted, as the city supposes they will be, for residence purposes, it may be that the set back limit there will be made so great that the district will go in as a class A residence. Mr. Ennis zoning expert, has been notified of the increase in the city limits and the contemplated change of this property into residence lots, and the final determination of the new mapping for this area will await his advice.

The zoning office will probably close as such on Monday. The maps and information will be left with the city engineer on the third floor of the city hall and that office will have charge of the work of informing the questioning public. The room occupied by the zoning expert, recently in charge of G. W. Melville, will be deserted and Mr. Melville expect, to leave Wednesday.

W. J. BARROWS DEAD.

WASHINGTON, June 17—William J. Barrows, chief clerk to the third assistant postmaster general, died in the rest room of the postoffice department today, after an attack of acute indigestion. He was born at Arlington, Missouri, in 1864.

LINCOLN CATCHER HIGH MAN IN STATE LEAGUE BATTING

CONKEY CLIMBS TO PEAK OF PILE

Lincoln Catcher Hops Into Lead of State League Batting Table.

Gibson in Tie for Second Place; Dick Wood Sets Pace in Homers.

McDermott, Fairbury backstop, for several weeks king of the Nebraska State league baseball swat artists, has been forced to abdicate his throne and make way for the new ruler—Harry Conkey, heavy hitting catcher of the Lincoln club.

Conkey's achievement is the result of 98 times up in 27 games, in which he has garnered 35 hits and 13 runs for a high average of .357. McDermott tobogganed from his top perch of .354 to the less attractive shelf of .333.

Gibson Does Some Climbing.

Reichle of Fairbury also figured in the spotlight, as his rating went up along with Conkey. Reichle was able to climb into the .300 class and second place in individual batting by annexing an average of .345 for 29 games, 110 times at bat for 38 hits and 23 runs. His book shows seven two-baggers, one three-bagger and three home runs, with four stolen sacks on the side. Gibson of Lincoln, playing in 15 games, has a mark of .345. Since the compilation of the averages, which include last Sunday's games, Gibson has been batting at a terrific clip, and the next grist of statistics may find Gibson leading the entire State league pack.

Fairbury Well Represented.

Others playing in 24 or more games and hitting .300 or better in the averages, are: McDermott, .333; Bliss of Fairbury, .321; Goodwin of Fairbury, .318; Marr of Norfolk, .309. Bliss is the only stranger in the .309 circle, the others having basked there for more than a week.

Parker of Beatrice increased his lead in base stealing during the period by four filfered sacks. He now has 13 to his credit. Wood of Lincoln showed Amen of Hastings some dust by crowding the latter out of second place. Wood is credited with 10 stolen bases and Amen nine. Parker's recent release by the Beatrice club gives the leadership to Wood.

Wood Top Man in Homers.

Wood of Lincoln with five homers to his credit, leads as home run king of the league. Wigington of Hastings and Bowman of Beatrice are tied for second honers with four each.

Fairbury broke her tie with Grand Island for first place in team batting and now leads with .262, Lincoln rose to second place with .247, while Grand Island is third with .244. Hastings occupies the cellar position.

In team fielding Lincoln leads with .940, Norfolk is second with .936 and Beatrice third with .945. Grand Island brings up the rear with .908.

Woolfolk of Fairbury, pitching in nine games, has won seven and lost none, and by the same token is holding down top honor as first pitcher of the league. Others who average 1.000 are Williams of Lincoln, Schmidt of Norfolk, McCarty of Lincoln, Krisinger of Beatrice, Ross of Lincoln and Bowman of Beatrice.

Hanson Forced to Cancel July 4 Mat Bout Wtih Stecher

OMAHA, Neb., June 17.—The Joe Stecher-Charlie Hanson wrestling match, set for July 4 under the auspices of the American Legion, has been called off by J. J. Isaacson, promoter for the Legion.

Hanson's tonsils were removed Tuesday and he has been ordered by his doctor to quit training for at least ten days. Hanson had been troubled with tonsilitis for some time and the situation became so alarming the fore part of the week that an operation was necessary.

"The Legion is disappointed that the match had to be called off as it would have no doubt proved the biggest sporting event in this section. The match may be again attempted later in the summer," says Promoter Isaacson.

Hanson is also disappointed, saying:

"I am sorry I cannot meet Stecher, but I don't think I would do justice to the fans if I undertook to wrestle Stecher so soon after the operation. I hope the match comes off this summer."

Stecher will claim the Hanson forfeit of $500, which will be paid today.

Fairbury Indepts Play Kansas Nine

(Special to The Star.)

FAIRBURY, Neb., June 17.—The Fairbury Independents will play baseball here Sunday with the Phillipsburg team, a Kansas aggregation. McPhartland, who hurled for Fairbury last season, is leading the Phillipsburg team.

Four Games by Amateurs Sunday

Lincoln amateur baseball leaguers will stage a pair of doubleheaders tomorrow afternoon. The programs will be played at Rock Island park and Landis Field.

The American Legion and College View nines will meet in the Capital City game at Landis Field. The Lincoln Barbers and Fraternal Order of Eagles will mix in the Commercial league curtain-raiser, which is scheduled for 1:15 p. m.

At Rock Island park another pair of games is on the card. The Lawlor Sporting Goods team will meet the Bracelen Painters in the Capital City league game. The Lincoln Telehone Co. and Modern Woodmen No. 916 teams will meet in the Commercial league curtain-raiser at 1:15 p. m.

PLAN ASSAULT ON CINDER RECORDS

Crack College Athletes in Mood and Condition to Set New Marks.

CHICAGO, June 17.—Track history is expected to be made on Stagg field this afternoon when the flower of the nation's athletes compete in the second annual national collegiate meet. Records which have stood for years are expected to undergo an assault.

Terrific competition, which was in evidence in the preliminaries yesterday, is certain to continue in the finals today. This makes the outcome of the meet doubtful, although Illinois and California remain the favorites.

Cornhuskers Qualify.

In the qualifying events yesterday, Illinois and California each qualified two men. California will have two men in the 440-yard race, while Illini will have one man in the quarter and one in the half. Minnesota, Nebraska, Mississippi A. & M. and Notre Dame also qualified in the 440, while Pennsylvania State, Iowa, Nebraska and Central Wesleyan placed men in the 880.

Due to the heat and the high wind, the performances in the qualifying heats were not particularly noteworthy. Cochran of Mississippi A. & M. stepped his heat in the 440 in 50 4-5, however, and Captain Larry Brown of Pennsylvania turned in a mark of 2:00 7-10 for the half mile.

Ted Smith in the 440 and Gardner in the 880 were the two qualifying Cornhuskers.

Ray to Race With Watson.

Fifteen individual events were on the card today in addition to the match race between Joie Ray of the Illinois Athletic club, the world's greatest miler, and Ray Watson, formerly of the aKnsas ggies now running under the colors of the Kansas City A. C. Watson, who won the mile in the national meet last year, broke the tape ahead of Ray once this year.

Illinois Wins Argument.

The national collegiate athletic association coaches last night voted to hold the 1923 meet on June 9; decided, in favor of a team championship, instead of individual championships for an unlimited team membership, instead of teams of ten ahletes, and for revision of the scoring system to include six places at 5, 4, 3, 2, 1 and one-half points. The recommendations will be submitted to the entire membership for final decision. The new ideas cover virtually the points contended for by the University of Illinois, which first declined to enter this year's meet.

Nine Players Dropped From Local Leagues

Amateur ball players of Lincoln, under contract with teams belonging to the local association, must conform to all rules of the organization. Eight amateur tossers have been declared ineligible for participation in Capital City and Commercial league games during the season.

Officers and directors of the local association met Friday night at the Chamber of Commerce and approved the recommendation of Howard Barrett, association president, that the following players be declared ineligible: Kersey, Stehr, Crounce, C. Langenheim, Crabtree, Randall, Miller, Dill and Giddings. Failure to appear in uniform on dates their teams were scheduled to play league games or signing with professional teams were the offenses charged against the nine players in uestion.

Association directors ruled that the forfeit by the Lincoln Sporting Goods team of the second game on last Sunday's double bill at Rock Island park would stand in the record. The Sporting Goods team had requested a reversal of the umpire's ruling, but no formal protest had been filed, as required by association rules.

Dozen Gasoline Drivers Race at Uniontown Today

UNIONTOWN, Pa., June 17.—Twelve cars will get away to the starter's gun at 2 o'clock eastern daylight time this afternoon in what promises to be the most spectacular automobile race ever held at the Uniontown speedway, an oval a mile and an eighth in size.

The race today is 225 miles and the participants will share 15,000 cash prizes and compete for the Universal Trophy cup.

Old timers are strongly backing Milton to win though there is considerable sentiment in favor of Jimmy Murphy to grab first place.

Milton, Leach special; Murphy Murphy special; Mulford, Frontenac; Gardner, Bentz special, Fetterman, Dusenberg; Wonderlich, Dusenberg; Duray, Frontenac; Halberg, Frontenac; Eliott, Leach special; Hartz, Dusenberg; Howard, Fronty Ford; Rose, unnamed.

Central City in Win Over Greeley

(Special to The Star.)

CENTRAL CITY, Neb., June 1.—Central City won its seventh straight victory Thursday by defeating Greeley, 17 to 5. Reeves and Kellogg poled home runs, making a total of eight homers for the Central City club in seven games this year. Score by innings:

Greeley	1 0 1 0 0 2 1 0 0— 5
Central City	1 2 5 0 2 3 3 1 x— 17

Batteries—Boyles and C. Murphy; House and Miller.

THE ? BOX

Q: On June 15, in a game between Palmyra and Douglas, a runner was on second base and batter drove a single between third and short. The runner, in advancing from second to third, collided with the third baseman. The collision was unintentional on third baseman's part, but it was nevertheless, interference. Team at bat contended runner was entitled to score on account of interference, but umpire ruled negatively, refusing to allow the runner to score. The left fielder fielded the hit on the bounce and a correct peg to the plate, had there been no interference, might have caught the runner at home. Was the umpire right in his decision?—H. L. E., Bennet, Neb.

A: Umpire's decision final and cannot be reversed. Nevertheless, such a ruling does not appeal to the writer as being either fair or logical. Base runner has the right of way on a play such as you describe, and the excuse of "unintentional interference" by third baseman is decidedly flimsy. A correct peg by the left fielder, as you say, might have retired the runner at the plate, but if the writer were umpiring he would, in all such cases, call the interference intentional and allow the run.

Q: Runner on first base and one out. Batter strikes out and catcher drops the ball. Batter runs to first. Catcher overthrows first base, batter gets to first safely and runner on first advances to third. I claim batter is out and runner is entitled to retain the base he reached. Am I right? Suppose the third strike passes the catcher. Would not the batter be out, even in that case? I also hold that the above rule holds good with anything less than two out. Am I right?—J. J. L., Dwight, Neb.

A: Yes, you are correct. With less than two out and runner on first, batter is out on third strike, regardless of what happens to the ball. Catcher who threw to first evidently did not know the rule. Runner who advanced to third is entitled to hold that base and catcher gets error for his wild peg.

ST. LOUIS ROOKIE GETS BABE'S GOAT

Young Pitcher's Fadeaway Fans Bambino Five Times in Six.

(Associated Press.)

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 17.—Hubert "Shucks" Pruett, 21-year-old University of Missouri pitcher for the St. Louis Browns, possesses the famous "fadeaway" ball that made Christy Mathewson the world's greatest pitcher, according to Lee Fohl, manager of the Browns.

Manager Fohl said he believed that Pruett's "fadeaway" seemed superior to that of the "old master," because "Shucks" throws with his left hand, which gives ball a peculiar reverse twist. Matty was a right-hander.

Pruett's "fadeaway" has been highly successful this year against the heavy hitting New York Yankees. "Shucks" to date has fanned Babe Ruth five times and walked him once in six times at bat.

The young hurling star declared he would finish his medical course at the University of Missouri this winter.

Hebron Divides Pair of Games

(Special to The Star.)

HEBRON, Neb., June 17.—Hebron broke even in two games played this week. Superior defeated the locals last Wednesday by a 5 to 4 score. Hebron won from Davenport Thursday by a score of 4 to 2.

Hebron will play at Belvidere Sunday.

Touching the Bases

Williams and Walker removed their black-face makeup over in Philadelphia and smote a pair of home runs that contributed much to the Phillies' 7 to 2 victory ove rthe Reds.

Very festive position for the Browns. Not only they romp into first place by manhandling the Senators, 15 to 2, but Ken Williams socked his sixteenth homer.

Likewise a very lugabrious occasion for the Yanks. They dropped the fifth in a row in finishing second to the Tigers, 9 to 4.

A diving catch by Friberg saved the game for the Cubs in the eleventh and Grimes' homer to the left field corner won it for them in the twelfth. Also it might be remarked that Nicholson kept the Braves from winning in regulation time when he obliged with double errors in the fourth and fifth.

The Dodgers moved into third place by giving Doak the rough dry treatment, the Cardinals losing, 12 to 2.

Meantime, the Giants were taking the Pirates for the third straight time, 7 to 1, thereby making the Pittsburgh hope look very hopeless. Neither Glazner nor Yellowhorse could stop the Giants.

Ernie Johnson's single off Naylor gave the White Sox a ninth-inning victory over the Athletics, 9 to 8, in a game quite without particular incident.

The Red Sox also won in the ninth, coming from behind with a three-run rally at Uhle's expense. Speaker returned to the game, after a severe illness. He cracked three hits, but couldn't pull his Indians through.

CONFERS CROWN ON KING OF TURF

Verdict of Racing Public Rates Exterminator as Greatest of Great.

NEW YORK, June 17.—Exterminator, Willis Sharpe Kilmer's great seven-year-old gelding, may eclipse this year Man O' War's money-winning record if he maintains the sensational form he has shown so far.

By winning the historic Brooklyn handicap yesterday by a head from Grey Lag, the veteran campaigner collected $7,500 and brought his total earnings for six years of racing to $213,029. This figure is within $36,436 of the amount Man O'War won in his to seasons on the turf. As the famous son of McGee already has won close to 40,000 in eight starts this year, he has an excellent chance to establish a new high mark for American thoroughbreds.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

(International News Service.)

NEW YORK, June 17.—The greatest idol ever known to the American turf is not Man o'War, who trifled with records at any and all distances. It is not Morvich, unbeaten in two years of racing, nor the immortal Colin of the dim and cob-webbed past.

Great horses all, equine landmarks along the trail of thoroughbred development, they are as an inaudible whisper in a community chorus compared with Exterminator, hardy, honest son of McGee-Fair Empress, by long odds the finest handicap horse of the age, if not all ages.

Final Word In Popularity.

Exterminator stands today following his victory over Grey Lag in the Brooklyn handicap yesterday as the final and ultimate words in popularity, the revered of all things on four legs. Seven years old and with a record of forty-three victories in eighty-one strats, he has gone along his memorable way, winning all sorts and sizes of races from the obscure stake at a local track to the Kentucky derby of 1918. All manner of trainers, good and bad, have trained him; all manner of jockeys have ridden him; all manners of tracks—wet, dry, fast, slow—have known his flying hoofs and the amazing heart that is in him.

Exterminator has gone on his patient, placid way, beating the best and the worst of them and never a break has come in the steady run of success the great gelding has known.

Wins Over $200,000.

Exterminator's victory in the Brooklyn handicap yesterday brought his total of winnings up to the round sum of $213,000, the second largest total ever earned in the history of the American turf. Man o'War alone won more money, but the latter was sent after the fat purses.

No such luck for Exterminator. He has had to get out and earn his keep in day to day performances ever since his maiden race.

And now, at seven years old, shouldering an impost of 135 pounds, the heaviest that ever rode with a winner of the Brooklyn handicap, he is racing better than ever before in his memorable career.

In Retirement ext Year.

Man o'War has been retired. Morvich, it is thought, will follow him at the end of the present season. If Exterminator were able to express himself at this juncture, he might remark that some guys certainly have it soft.

But, being a thoroughbred gentleman, there is no danger of Extermminator saying anything of the kind.

British Girl New Star With Racquet

LONDON, June 17.—A new star flashed upon the English sporting horizon today when Miss Betty McCane, 19, won the Kent tennis championship, defeating Miss Elizabeth Ryan by the score of 6-3, 6-3 in the finals.

The nineteen-year-old wondr had defeated Mrs. Molla B. Mallory, the American woman tennis champion, yesterday.

Say Nay to Girls Serving as Caddies

BAY SIDE, N. Y., June 17.—Employment of girls as caddies on golf courses in this vicinity has aroused to action the Bayside civic association, it became known today. After receiving a vigorous protest from Mrs. Jennie L. Potter, principal of schools, who declared the girls would utilize their time to better advantage at home than on the links, the association instructed its social welfare committee too seek the co-operation of golf club officials in ending the practice.

Five Home Runs in Single Inning

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., June 17.—The world's record for home runs in one inning in organized baseball was broken in the Galveston-Wichita Falls, Texas league game here yesterday, when Galveston players drove out five home runs in the fifth inning. The previous one-inning record was three home runs.

Galveston scored two more homers before the game was ended, making seven for the game.

(Special to The Star.)

GRAND ISLAND, Neb., June 17.—Seven home runs—five by Lincoln and two by Grand Island—featured Friday's 8 to 6 victory by the Links at the expense of the Third Citys. First Baseman McCoy malleted three of the circuit drives, while Dye and Zinker each poled one. Pitcher Falk of Grand Island poled the two homers credited to the Third City crew. The Links hammered Federle off the mound in the second inning and Falk finished the game. Gibson pitched effectively for Lincoln until the ninth, when the Islanders counted four of their six runs. The Links gave Gibson tight support. The score:

BROWNS GO AHEAD IN PENNANT FIGHT

St. Louis Club Steps Past Yankees in Race for A. L. Gonfalon.

(Associated Press.)

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 17.—The Browns moved into the lead in the American league yesterday by overwhelming Washington, 15 to 2, while the New York Yankees were losing to Detroit. As a result of yesterday's games the Browns are one-half game ahead of New York. Kenneth Williams knocked out his sixteenth home run and McManus also crashed out a circuit drive. It was the Browns' fifth consecutive victory. Score by innings:

Fighting Umpire Wallops Player; Breaks His Nose

(Associated Press.)

AUGUSTA, Ga., June 17.—Umpire-baiting on the South Atlantic circuit is expected to lose in favor as an out-door sport as a result of the stand taken by Richard Monohan, arbiter of Friday's game between Spartanburg and Augusta.

Monohan banished First Baseman Kolseth of the visiting club, after an argument in the eighth inning. The player returned to his bench a few minutes later, however, the altercation was resumed and blows exchanged.

Physicians who attended Kolseth said his nose was broken in seven places.

Morvich to Face Starter in First Race Since Derby

(Associated Press.)

NEW YORK, June 17.—On the eve of his departure for Kentucky to race the cream of the three-yeear-old division in the Latonia special, Morvich, Benjamine Block's great colt, faced his first eastern test of the season today in the $7,500 Carlton stakes at Aqueduct.

A field of six was entered in the event, for three-year-olds at a mile Besides Morvich, the entries included Snob II, J. S. Cosden's imported colt, regarded as a strong rival of the Kentucky derby winner despite his recent defeat in the Belmont stakes; Whiskaway, the H. P. Whitney stable contender; William A, June Grass and Horologe.

Morvich and Snob II were assigned to top weight, 123 pounds, William A., 120, and the rest of the field carried 108 pounds each.

BRUINS CAPTURE ONE FROM JOSIES

Bears Win Slugfest From the Saints With Nine Runs in Seventh.

ST. JOSEPH, Mo., June 17.—Denver ran in nine runs in the seventh inning yesterday and the Bruins won from St. Joseph, 14 to 11. The Saints at one stage of the game held a nine run lead. The Josies counted six runs in the second. Score by innings:

Denver	0 0 0 0 1 2 9 2 0	14	23	1
St. Joseph	0 6 0 1 3 1 0 0 0	11	17	2

Batteries—Gross and Wetzel; McColl, Grover, Lindberg and Kandler.

Tulsa Sweeps Series.

TULSA, Okla., June 17.—Tulsa made a clean sweep of the series with Des Moines yesterday by winning the final game, 9 to 5. Pitcher Glasier drove in the winning run during an extended rally in the eighth. It was Tulsa's twelfth consecutive victory. Score by innings:

Des Moines	0 0 1 0 1 0 3 0 0	5	11	2
Tulsa	0 0 3 0 0 1 0 5 x	9	10	2

Batteries—Lynch and Banner; Glasier and Crosby.

Sooners Trim Sioux.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., June 17.—Brady had just one bad inning, the sixth, but Oklahoma City defeated Sioux City yesterday, 9 to 4. Score by innings:

		R.	H.	E.

GIANTS PULLING AWAY FROM PACK

New York Trounces Pirates, Winning Eleven Games in Dozen Starts.

NEW YORK, June 17.—The New York Giants won yesterday, 7 to 1, and made it three straight over Pittsburgh. Jesse Barnes held the Pirates in check, while his mates knocked Glazner off the mound in the second inning. It was the seventh straight for the Giants and eleven victories in their last twelve games. Score by innings:

Pittsburgh	0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0	1	8	3
New York	2 2 0 0 3 0 0 0 x	7	11	1

Batteries—Glazner, Yellowhorse, Carlson, Hollingsworth and Gooch; J. Barnes and Snyder

Ring's Pitching Beats Reds.

PHILADELPHIA, June 17.—Relieving Meadows in the third inning yesterday with none out and Burns on second base, Jimmy Ring blanked Cincinnati for the remaining seven innings without a hit, and Philadelphia easily defeated the Reds, 7 to 2. Only twenty-two men faced Ring. Home runs were made by Williams and Walker. Score by innings:

Cincinnati	0 2 0 0 0 0 0 0 0	2	4	1
Philadelphia	2 0 2 0 0 0 0 3 x	7	12	0

Batteries—Luque, Markle and Hargrave; Meadows, Ring and Peters.

Braves' Errors Disastrous.

BOSTON, June 17.—Grimes' home run in the left field corner in the twelfth inning proved the winning factor for Chicago over Boston, 7 to 6, yesterday. In the fourth and fifth, Rightfielder Nicholson made double errors, muffing fly balls and then throwing wildly and was responsible for four Chicago. Manager Mitchell of Boston was put off the field by Umpire Klem. A shoe-string catch by Friberg in the eleventh saved the game for Chicago. Score by innings:

Chicago	0 1 0 1 3 0 0 0 1 0 0 1	7	15	1
Boston	1 1 1 1 0 1 1 0 0 0 0 0	6	13	4

Batteries—Jones, Osborne, Kaufman and O'Farrell; Oeschger, McQuillan, Fillingim and O'Neil, Gowdy

Dodgers Slaughter Cardinals.

BROOKLYN, June 17.—Brooklyn made seventeen hits off Doak and Walker yesterday, defeating St. Louis, 12 to 2, and tightening the race for second place. Every one of the Dodgers made one or more hits. Johnston, Wheat and Mitchell getting three each. Hornsby made his fifteenth home run of the season in the eighth inning. Score by innings:

		R.	H.	E.
St. Louis	1 0 0 0 0 0 0 1 0	2	11	1
Brooklyn	3 0 0 0 2 6 1 0 x	12	17	1

Dwight Chalks Up Sixth Win of Year

(Special to The Star.)

DWIGHT, Neb., June 17.—Dwight registered its sixth victory of the year last Thursday by defeating the Lincoln All-Stars, colored baseball team, by a score of 9 to 3. The Lincoln Star Van & Storage team will play here Sunday.

Dwight has played eight games this season and lost two. Both of the defeats were ten-inning contests.

Teams wishing to book the Dwight team should communicate with Manager J. A. Davis, Dwight, Neb.

Bullfrog Stunt Costs "Cy" Coin

Pitcher Cy Williams' trick of jumping the Links to join the Giltner semipros has cost him exactly $55 in coin of the realm. Checks were made out to the Lincoln players Wednesday evening, prior to the team's departure for Grand Island. The checks included pay for Thursday, June 15.

Manager Buck Beltzer, riding in another car, did not know until he reached Grand Island of Cy's desertion at Aurora. Payment of Cy's $55 check on a Lincoln bank has been stopped by the Lincoln management. A wire was sent to Giltner Friday informing Williams that he had been fined the 55 for deserting the team and jumping his contract.

Secretary Moon announced Saturday that the Denver pitcher whom Manager Atkins offered to send to the Links had refused to be demoted to a class D league. The local management, however, is burning the wires in quest of new pitching talent. Pitcher Jepson is expected to report to the Links at Hastings Sunday.

FAILS TO MENTION BLACK BOY'S NAME

(Associated Press.)

LOS ANGELES, June 17. — Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion pugilist, was speeding east today with the intention of launching what he declared would be one of the busiest fall campaigns ever participated in by a heavyweight titleholder. Jess Willard, ex-champion; Bill Brennan and Harry Greb—a trio of pugilists considered likely opponents for Dempsey—probably will have the opportunity to meet the champion this fall, Kearns said.

The proposed match with Bill Brennan in Michigan City next Labor day has been practically closed, Kearns said, although there was a possibility Jess Willard might be substituted for Brennan. If the match with Brennan goes through, according to present plans, and Brennan is defeated, then Kearns will try to match Willard and Dempsey for a bout in New York, Jersey City or Montreal, the latter part of September. A few days later, Kearns stated, Dempsey would be willing to meet Greb in a six-round bout in Philadelphia.

Ready to Entertain Jess.

Referring to recent statements of Willard that Dempsey and Kearns were trying to evade a return match with the former sultan of the squared circle as "bunk," Kearns declared he was ready to agree to a bout with Willard on a percentage basis, the same ratio to the in effect as that at the Toledo fight in 1919, in which Dempsey stopped the big Kansan and won the heavyweight belt.

Willard, when told of Kearns' plan, averred Kearns was "making unreasonable demands on Tex Rickard so he will have a reason for not being signed up."

Willard Does Some Talking.

"I remained quiet for many months, hoping that a return match would be arranged," Willard said, "but the less I said the more they liked it, so I am going to do a little talking and see what effect that will have."

Kearns will first stop at Benton Harbor, Mich., where he will talk over the proposed Brennan-Dempsey schap with Floyd Fitzsimmons, promoter. Later he will go to New York for a conference with Tex Rickard, promoter of the Toledo bout at which Dempsey won the title, and who, it is understood, already has an understanding with Willard for a projected Willard-Dempsey fight.

Littleton Wins Fight, Despite Broken Hands

(Associated Press.)

NEW ORLEANS, La., June 17.—Notwithstanding that he broke both hands in the early rounds of a fifteen-round bout here last night, "Happy" Littleton of New Orleans was given a referee's decision over Billy Shade of San Francisco. Littleton weighed 161 pounds, Shade, 166½.

Littleton broke his hands during the fifth round, up to which time he had all the better of the bout. Shode was the aggressor during the following rounds up to the opening of the twelfth, when Littleton, although handicapped, made a heroic effort to land a knockout punch during the remainder of the fight.

It was announced after the bout that Littleton would probably not be able to fight again. His hands were in such a condition that it was necessary to cut the gloces from them.

Yanks Take Flop to Second Place

NEW YORK, June 17.—Ousted unceremoniously from the lead they have held since the early days of the American league race, the Yankees today were in second place, trailing the speedy Browns.

St. Louis today has a margin of a half game at the top as a result of their crushing defeat of Washington, 15 to 2, while Detroit greeted Waite Hoyt with a fusillade of hits and humbled the Yankees, 9 to 4, for the third straight time.

LIFE AND CHARACTER READING

Life and Character Reading.

The governing sign of this birthdate is Gemini, the sign of the Twins, and of the dual personality. Gemini persons are extremely affectionate and generous, always courteous and kind to one and all. They are exceedingly proud of the family name and have a great deal of family pride.

They are fond of arts and sciences, are great readers and good talkers and are very quick to see a point in a story or joke. These people are not usually successful wage earners, and frequently give away as fast as they can earn.

The true friends and companions of this date are those born under Aquarius and Libra. These people are quiet and restful and they help those born on this date to keep themselves in hand.

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

A crest of high pressure extends from Montana southeastward to the Gulf of Mexico this morning with the center over western Nebraska and Wyoming. The pressure continues high over western Washington. The low pressure area central over southern Minnesota has moved eastward and is central over the eastern portion of the Lake region. Low pressures are also central over Saskatchewan and over southern Arizona. During the past 24 hours light scattered showers have occurred from Minnesota eastward to the Atlantic coast and in the northern Rocky mountain states.

Last Flourishes in Campaign for Minnesota Votes

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 17.—Minnesota voters today saw the final campaign flourishes of the candidates in the state wide primary election next Monday, when United States senatorial, congressional, state and county candidates will be nominated.

Mrs. Anna Dickie Oleson, seeking the democratic nomination for United States senator is opposed by two men—Thomas J. Meighen and Homer Morris. Confident of nomination, Mrs. Oleson, it was announced here, already has planned for the opening of her fall campaign two weeks after the primary. If defeated, she will speak in behalf of the successful candidate.

Congressman A. J. Volstead, in the seventh district, author of the prohibition enforcement act, is unopposed in the primary for re-nomination on the republican ticket.

More Frenchmen Go to Coblenz

COBLENZ, June 17.—One French infantry regiment from Upper Silesia and one artillery regiment from Treves are arriving in Coblenz, which will increase the strength of the French army in the American zone of occupation to 6,000 as against 1,200 Americans who will remain here after the transport Cantigny sails with a homeward bound detachment June 20.

Major General Robert L. Bullard and Brigadier General Preston Brown arrived in Coblenz today.

BUTLER ASSAILS BADGER SENATOR

Declares Is La Follette Looking for Fight He Can Be Accommodated.

(Associated Press.)

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., June 17.—Calling on Senator LaFollette to "lay aside the livery of the two historic political parties" and to put on the livery which he should wear and take both the name and the uniform of a "destructionist," Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university last night replied to the Wisconsin senator's speech before the American Federation Labor in Cincinnati yesterday in which he urged a constitutional amendment for congressional veto of the United States supreme court decisions.

Speaking at the annual dinner of the New Jersey state bar association, Dr. Butler said.

"If Senator LaFollette wishes to make war upon our form of government we shall provide him with all the fight he can stomach; but let him stop burrowing from within and be compelled to attack America openly from without."

Senator LaFollette's program "Dr. Butler said, "is not new, but it is ominious that it should have been cheered at a convention of American working men, for those of us who work have most to gain from the preservation of the American system of government."

SENTENCED TO 10 YEARS IN PRISON

South Omaha Men Must Do Time for Attempt to Rob Bank.

TEKAMAH, Neb., June 17.—Two weeks after they had been shot down and captured following their attempt to rob the Decatur State bank of nearly $10,000, Benjamin H. King and Gottfried Perscek were each sentenced to ten years in the penitentiary, and Lou Clernt was found guilty by a jury of being an accomplice. The three men are from South Omaha. Clernt has three days in which to file application for new trial before sentence is imposed.

The sentence of the two men was pronounced by District Judge Goss of Omaha, presiding here, at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon Friday, exactly the same time when two weeks ago Perscek and King entered the Decatur bank and forced Nora Conneely, assistant cashier ,into the vault.

It was this womans' screams which spread the alarm resulting in the capture of the three men.

Before pronouncing sentence on King and Perscek, Judge Goss criticized them regarding flaws he found in their robbery attempt, bringing laughter from those who crowded the court room.

"You should never have used mustaches," said the judge.

"Or you should have pasted them down solidly before nearing the bank, so suspicion could not have been aroused. Then you should not have parked the automobile in the alley at the rear of the bank, but should have driven up in front like all bank robbers do. The car in the alley with a mustached man waiting at the wheel of a car whose motor was running, also brought upon you men a great deal of suspicion—in fact, it almost caused your deaths."

"However, it is fortunate that both of you did not harm the cashier whose screams caused your downfall. You could have killed her or struck her with your guns and would now have been in more serious trouble."

Both men, when asked if they wished to make a statement before sentenced, said they "had nothing to say."

Largest Chicken Hatchery Burns; Eggs Destroyed

(Special to The Star.)

WOLBACH, Neb. June 17.—The largest chicken hatchery in the state, located at Cushing and owned by Mrs. Paul Anderson, was burned to the ground at about the noon hour Thursday. The cause of the fire is unknown, but is thought to have been from defective electric wiring. Mrs. Anderson has established a national reputation in hatching and selling White Leghorn chicks. It is estimated that over $1,500 worth of half grown chickens were consumed, while about 40,000 eggs under way of incubation and which were to have hatched the first of the coming week, were also consumed. Incubators costing about $4,000, about 300 bushels of corn, several tons of other feed and the large building were all a total loss. The loss is estimated at between $25,000 and the large building were all a total loss. The loss is estimated at between $25,000 and $35,000, with insurance of only $7,000.

Building and Loan Association Pays Dividend at Wymore

(Special to The Star.)

WYMORE Neb., June 19.—The annual meeting of the Wymore Building and Loan Association was held Tuesday afternoon, at the office of the secretary, John W. Smith. The following officers were elected: President, J. A. Reuling; vice-president, W. L. Jones; secretary, John W. Smith; treasurer, Lyman Belmar. W. L. Jones and George Cumro were elected directors to take the place of D. A. Lasher and C. N. Miller. A dividend of 7½ per cent was declared on paid-up stock.

Boy at Wolbach Kicked by Mule

WOLBACH, Neb., June 17.—Wayne Studley, 10, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Studley, was kicked in the stomach by a mule. Dr Adams was called and found the lad was spitting blood and had suffered internal injuries. Wayne had eaten a hearty meal just before the accident. It is thought he will recover.

GALLANT COLLIE RESCUES MASTER

Farmer Attacked and Mangled by Brood Sows Saved by Dog.

(Special to The Star.)

RANDOLPH, Neb., June 17. — Attacked by several brood sows which knocked him down, almost scalped him tore his jaws and mangled his face, the life of J. Franzen a farmer living north of Randolph, was saved by his collie dog which came to his rescue Thursday morning.

Mr. Franzen had gone into the hog house in which he had the sows locked and while he was leaning over one of them, another rushed at him knocking him down. The others joined in the attack and Franzen was powerless to defend himself.

His screams were heard by his collie dog which jumped over several fences and through a partially opened window into the hog house. The dog attacked the enraged swine biting them and rushing between them and his master who managed to crawl from the hog house to safety.

Dr. Kerley was called to attend Franzen and found him seriously wounded, but he will probably recover, the doctor states.

RESULT IRISH VOTE OBSCURE

Ballots and Tally Sheet Stolen at Dublin by Republican Leader.

Feared Action First Step in Campaign by the Anti-Treaty Forces.

(International News Service.)

DUBLIN, June 17.—The results of the general election in the Irish Free State on Friday were still clouded in obscurity today and it is believed that they will not be known until Monday.

A critical situation, which threatens trouble between the republicans and the Free Staters, has risen over the seizure of the Dublin university ballots by "Rory" (Roderick) O'Connor, commander of the rebellious faction of the Irish republican army.

Many fear this is the opening of a campaign on the part of the anti-treaty forces to invalidate the election.

O'Connor is a member of the De Valera wing of the Sinn Fein which is opposed both to the Anglo-Irish peace treaty and the Irish Free State constitution.

There are well founded reports in circulation that the republicans, dissatisfied with the constitution, are ready to renew their opposition to the supporters of the Irish provisional government.

This brings a new threat of warfare.

De Valera's friends predict he will eventually oppose the constitution vigorously, but it is not known whether he will break openly with Michael Collins and Arthur Griffith, or will seek to amend or reject the document when it is taken up by the dail eireann on July 1.

Supporters of the Free State claim that the republicans lost strength in the election.

Examination of the available ballots indicate that only about 55 per cent of the electorate went to the polls. The voting by women was unusually heavy. The indications are, according to Free State sources, that a majority of the pro-treaty candidates were elected. The anti-treaty forces lost a number of seats to independents.

DeValera Cancels Trip.

(Associated Press.)

LONDON, June 17.—Cancellation by Eamon De Valera of his visit to Scotland, says a dispatch to the Daily Mail from Dublin is ascribed to the calling of an immediate council of republicans to decide on their course of action.

The dispatch adds that republican anger over the constitution is rapidly rising. The republicans object to pretty nearly everything in the constitution which is satisfactory to Great Britain.

Tom Hall Throws Out His Hook to Catch $5,000 Job

Tom Hall of Verdon made his filing Friday afternoon as a republican primary candidate for his old job as state railway commissioner. When he was on the commission he drew a salary of $3,000 a year. Now the job pays $5,000. Mr. Hall thinks this is better than running a farm. Arthur H. Briggs, a political unknown, who lives at Omaha, also got into the railway commissioner race on the republican ticket.

M. F. Hall of Neligh filed as a progressive candidate for congress in the Third district.

High Water Carries Off Fairbury Mill Dam Thursday Night

(Special to The Star.)

FAIRBURY, Neb., June 17.—The Fairbury mill dam went out Thursday about 8 p. m. The rock part of the dam gave away at the bottom, the water forcing an opening about eight feet long and five feet from the bottom up. The water escaped so slowly that no damage is reported down the river. The dam is dry. For the present the mill will cease to operate.

The main part of the dam is constructed of cement, the part damaged was the old one, put in many years ago.

Supposed Meteor Startles People

(Special to The Star.)

BROKEN BOW, Neb., June 17.—Custer county residents have been not a little excited and are still wondering what was the real cause of the strange disturbance in the air a short time ago. All kinds of inquiries have come in and many rumors were started. At first it was thought to be the explosion of dynamite used for blasting on the H. M. Sullivan ranch but the noise could not possibly have covered the large area reported. As the sky was clear, the idea of lightning was abandoned. At least three different people in various parts of the county claim that what ever it was, exploded right over their farm. The general conclusion is that it was a meteor.

Colonel Charles R. Forbes, director of the Veteran's bureau leaves Saturday for a trip into the northwest to inspect new hospital sites. While away he will also make a trip to San Francisco and other west coast cities.

LOP 2 MILLIONS OFF PAY OF RAIL WORKERS FRIDAY

Labor Board Hands Down Decision Slashing Wages of Office People.

Latest Reduction Brings Total Cuts to Approximately 135 Million.

(Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, June 17. — Majority members of the United States railroad labor board who yesterday ordered another slash from the wages of the nation's railway workers today retaliated to criticisms of minority members of the board with the charge that the dissenting members presented "incendiary arguments in a strained and exaggerated effort to inflame the employes to strike against the decisions of the board."

The minority, constituting two of the three labor members were accused of "sowing some of the tiny seeds that have germinated and blossomed into industrial anarchy in Russia."

Yesterday's decision which lopped nearly $2,000,000 from the wages of 325,000 railway clerks, signal men and stationary firemen, brought total reductions effective July 1 under the board's orders up to $135,000,000. Approximately 12,000 railway employes are effected by the orders.

Accompanying yesterday's order carrying reductions ranging from 2 to 6 cents an hour, was a lengthy supporting opinion from the members representing the railroads and the public and the dissenting opinion by the labor members condemning the order.

Answer Criticisms.

In their prompt rejoinder today the majority members said:

"It is not incumbent upon the six members of the board concurring in this decision to follow the minority into a partisan controversy which partakes more of the characteristic of impassioned advocacy than of calm adjudication.

Insofar as the dissenting opinion distorts the sentiments of the majority, mis-quotes their language and reflects upon their desire and disposition to do justice, we will refrain from comment. We prefer to believe that these improprieties crept into that part of the document which was drafted by the employes in the headquarters of the railway department of the American Federation of Labor and that they were overlooked by the dissenting members.

"There is one feature of the dissenting argument, however, which is so unusual that it should not be passed over without notice, and that is the portion wherein the two dissenting members advise the employes to strike against the decision of the board.

"It is something new for labor members of the board to issue incendiary arguments to employes in favor of striking against a decision of the board. The giving of advice of this kind has heretofore been left to outsiders who were not under the official obligations imposed by the transportation act, the main purpose of which is to prevent railway strikes and protect the public from their dire effects.

Passage Referred To.

"'The transportation act aimed to substitute for the strike such just and reasonable wages as would render resort to a strike unnecessary. If this tribunal, created to determine such wages, admits that under existing circumstances, it cannot fulfill this function, obviously the employes must use such power as they have to influence the labor market which is henceforth to be the determining factor in their wages.'"

Statistics from the bureau of labor and the interstate commerce commission on living costs and standards in 1915, a year which the dissenters said was a fair basis, were quoted by the majority members who, after a lengthy presentation, said the standard of living for clerks under the rates prescribed by the decision is 12.1 per cent above 1915.

"It will be readily conceded," the statement continued, "that our social and industrial system has not invariably produced perfect results, but upon the whole it has demonstrated its superiority to every experimental substitute that has been offered. And the fact must not be overlooked, that this great industrial republic has rewarded labor with its largest degree of liberty, prosperity an happiness. It is well not to hold its minor imperfections so close to the eye as to obscure its benefits.

The minority report to which today's reply was made, was signed by Arthur O. Wharton and Albert Phillips. The third labor member of the board, W. L. McMeniman was in the east on an investigation trip when the minority report was issued.

CINCINNATI, O., June 17.—Strike ballots to stationary firemen and oilers and instructions to general committees of signal men to decide whether to take a strike vote will be in the mails by night following the decision of the railroad labor board last night cutting wages of members of these unions.

Clerks and station employes will not take a general strike ballot, Mr. Fitzgerald, grand president of the brotherhood, announced. He said that the general committee on each railroad system or road would determine whether or not a strike ballot would issue and added that where such votes were taken the men would be bound by the result. There will be no walkout on a number of roads which have made agreements with the men which bound them to accept any wage slashes made by the labor board.

South Nebraska Has Record Crop of Berries Now

(Special to The Star.)

WYMORE Neb., June 17.—The largest crop of small fruit, cherries, gooseberries, currants and raspberries ever raised in southern Nebraska is being harvested. The prospects for peaches and plums promise an exceptionally large crop. There is a tremendously large crop of cherries but the demand is so great that the price remains firm at $4 per bushel.

RUSS RULER HAS SECOND STROKE

(International News Service.)

RIGA, June 17.—Nicolai Lenine has suffered a second paralytic stroke, it was learned today from an authoritative source close to the Russian soviet government. He is reported to have undergone an operation during which part of his spinal cord was removed. The specialists in attendance are discussing the advisability of performing a brain operation.

Thousands of red troops are encamped about Lenine's little villa in the country near Moscow, but it is believed there is little likelihood of an uprising on a large scale, even if Lenine should die.

Contrary to the report current in Berlin several days ago that a triumvirate is administering affairs of Russia, it is stated now that control is in the hands of four of the members of council of five.

Lenine was an active member before becoming incapacitated. The others are Leon Trotzky, Kamenoff, Stalin and Dnorsh ncky. Stalin is of noble descent. His real name is County Tschegody Sheff. He is held in high esteem by the communist chiefs and many believe that he would succeed Lenine. The chances of Trotzky, people's commissar for war, are generally believed to be slight. There is fear of his militarism.

BROKEN BOW.—In acknowledgement of its efficient service rendered at its recent fire, the management of the Cooperative store entertained the local fire boys at a six o'clock dinner.

HARVESTER HEAD UNDER THE KNIFE

Harold McCormick Recovering From Operation Secretly Performed.

(International News Service.)

CHICAGO, June 17.—Harold F. McCormick, Chicago millionaire, is reported to be recovering today from an operation secretly performed last Monday at the Wesley Memorial hospital. Reports from the hospital today said he had passed a restful night and probably would be able to leave the hospital in a few days.

Because of the stringent precautions toward secrecy taken by McCormick and his family, the fact that he was in the hospital did not become known until today. Even after his presence there was known hospital officials continued to deny that McCormick was a patient at the institution.

The nature of the operation performed upon McCormick has not been learned, but it is understood to have been a very delicate one. The operation was performed, according to apparently authentic information by Dr. Victory Despinaze, who has achieved considerable renown for his working in grafting glands of lower animals upon human beings.

McCormick is housed in a private suite at the hospital, has his private nurses and physicians and no one is allowed in the section of the hospital where he is a patient.

Publicity attending McCormick's recent divorce from his wife, Mrs. Edith Rockefeller McCormick; the romance of his daughter, Mathilde, with Max Oser, a Swiss riding master, and other affairs of the family are said to have become so distasteful to McCormick that he decided upon secrecy in connection with his operation.

CANTON IN HANDS OF GENERAL CHEN

Body Guard of Southern Chief Battles From President's Palace.

(Associated Press.)

PEKIN, June 17.—While the troops of Geneva Chen Chiung-Ming has captured the city of Canton, capital of the south China republic, the body guard of President Sun Yat Sen still fought from the presidential palace, according to a dispatch from Canton filed at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Sun was supposed to have escaped to Whampoa on a gunboat, the troops of General Chen Chiung-Ming who yesterday occupied Canton, have pressed on and captured Nanton. This was reported in a dispatch from Canton filed at 4 o'clock yesterday.

Capture Men Who Kidnap and Flog Chicago Dealer

CHICAGO, June 17.—Eight men who kidnaped William Kehoe, president of the West Side Motor company, late last night were arrested early today in a field on the outskirts of the city while they were in the act of flogging Kehoe. The men accused Kehoe, according to the police, of an attack upon a young woman. Police are investigating to determine if the men are members of the Ku klux klan.
